the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 12.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased from 4.5 million to 6.5 million (Office for National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community. The Department of Health (2000) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out a vision for the future of older people's services. The strategy is based on the following principles: older people should be able to live independently in their own homes; older people should be able to access the services they need; and older people should be able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.

The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives for the future of older people's services. These include: to improve the quality of life of older people; to reduce the inequalities in health and social care between different groups of older people; and to ensure that older people are able to access the services they need.

The strategy is a key document for the development of older people's services in the UK. It sets out a clear vision for the future of older people's services and provides a framework for the development of policies and services to meet the needs of older people.

1. O.J. Simpson always lived life on camera: first as a football star, then as a sportscaster, commercial pitchman, and an actor. But nothing could prepare him, or his fans, for the role he would play in 1994.

The first reports were surprising enough: Simpson was suspected in the brutal murder of his ex-wife Nicole and her friend, Ronald Goldman.

But it was his arrest that proved unforgettable. Instead of turning himself in as promised, Simpson had a friend drive him on a rambling jaunt along southern California's freeways.

As the national television audience watched with virtually all network programming pre-empted, Simpson's white Ford Bronco moved along the freeway. Police cars followed in formation, and crowds formed along overpasses. Finally the Bronco returned to Simpson's west Los Angeles house, where he surrendered. So began what many will call one of the most famous murder cases in American history.

2. Flanked by the relatives of crime victims, President Clinton signed a $30 million crime law. He said, "Our country will not be safe until all Americans take personal responsibility for themselves, their families and their communities."

The law banned many assault firearms, allowed the death penalty for dozens more federal crimes and provided billions of dollars over six years to build prisons and hire police.

3. A woman from Alabama became the first contestant with a disability to win the Miss American Pageant. The 68th Miss America was 21-year-old Heather Whitestone. After receiving the crown, she signed "I love you" amidst thunderous applause from the audience in Atlantic City.

Her slogan in the competition was "Youth Motivation: Anything is Possible." She became Miss America 1995 in part through her talent routine, a two-and-a-half minute ballet performed to music that she could not hear.

4. If rock 'n' roll is here to stay, 1994 made it clear that Aerosmith is too. The band of bad boys from Boston proved that heavy metal need not rust, taking three awards at the 11th annual MTV Music Video Awards ceremony. They collected three awards for their "Cryin'" video; best group video, video of the year, and viewers choice award.

5. It was a match made in tabloid heaven: The child of one of the biggest stars in rock history married the other biggest star in rock history.

Lisa Marie Presley, the only child of Elvis Presley, got hitched to the reclusive Michael Jackson. After weeks of dodging photographers outside Jackson's Trump Tower apartment in New York City, the couple made a very public coming out. They opened the MTV ceremony, and the announcer intoned, "Please welcome Mr. and Mrs. Michael Jackson." The couple held hands and exchanged a long kiss as the audience cheered. "I'm very happy to be here," Jackson said. "And just think, nobody thought this would last."

1. Two men who had regarded each other with suspicion for six decades shook hands on the South Lawn of the White House, and once again peace in the Middle East seemed more than a dream.

A year after he shook the hand of Palestine Liberation Organization chairman Yasser Arafat, Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin did the same with King Hussein of Jordan. The two nations had been enemies since the creation of Israel in 1948 following a brief, bitter war between Jews and Arabs. The war drove thousands of Arab Palestinians into Jordan, creating a class of refugees and deep hatreds on both sides of the river Jordan.

President Clinton, who played host to Rabin and Hussein signed an agreement and shared their optimism. The old enemies, he said, "give their people a new currency of hope and the chance to prosper in a region of peace."

2. Frank Coster suffered from depression and had a history of drug and alcohol abuse. But nothing may ever explain for sure why the Maryland trucker stole a small plane shortly before 2 A.M. on September 15, 1994.

Neither President Clinton nor his wife and daughter were home when Corder, flying at treetop level, breached restricted air space around the White House and smashed into a magnolia tree on the South Lawn. The single engine plane came to rest against the mansion wall and burst into flames killing the 38-year-old Corder.

3. It was rainy month in Georgia, where two weeks of record flooding in July 1994 killed 31 people, destroyed hundreds of bridges and roads. Tropical storm Albert dumped nearly two feet of rain, flooding the Flint and Ocmulgee Rivers in the central and southwestern sections of the state. About 35,000 people fled their homes, and more than 400,000 acres were inundated after flooding began in July.

4. Tens of thousands of firefighters fought a summer-long battle against scores of fires that burned more than three million acres of woodlands across the parched Western states. Residents of mountain homes near Boise were routed by a single fire that consumed 27,000 acres. Flames scorched a range of well-known locations, including the Jackson Hole ski valley and western Wyoming's Grand Teton National park.

Firefighters ranged from seasoned pros to new recruits. In California's Sierra Nevada, exhausted, disheveled men and women declared victory on August 24, over the 46,800 acre Cottonwood fire that had burned for eight days.

5. They headed north on almost anything that would float, including rafts made of the flimsiest materials: oil drums, inner tubes, or wooden planks. They were Cuba's boat people—thousands of people desperate to come to the U.S. to escape the poverty and hunger of their increasingly isolated island Communist nation.

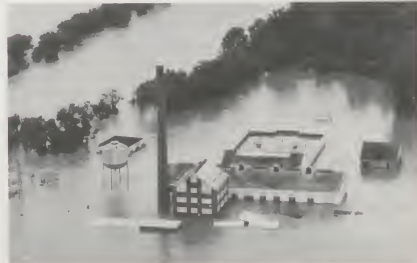

Many did not make it because of storms, sinking or the U.S. Coast Guard, which intercepted more than 1000 of the craft in one day early in September 1994. But the flood of migrants receded shortly thereafter. Reversing a 28-year-old policy of not granting Cubans asylum, the U.S. agreed to admit at least 20,000 a year. In return, Cuban leader Fidel Castro promised to halt the flight of the boat people.

6. The civil war in Rwanda began with a plane crash that killed the president. Before the year was over, another 500,000 Rwandans had been killed and another 2 million had fled the African nation.

President Juvénal Habyarimana died in a mysterious plane crash on April 6, igniting long-simmered tensions between the Hutu tribe, which comprises 90 percent of the population, and the Tutsi tribe, which accounts for 10 percent.

The rebel group comprised mainly of Tutsis had been trying to unseat the president, who was Hutu. His tribe blamed the Tutsi for his death, and Hutu extremists began a series of mass killings. The violence was awful, but it was nothing new. The Hutus slaughtered thousands of Tutsis in uprisings in 1959 and the early 1960's.

7. Civil war continued to rack Bosnia-Herzegovina in 1994, despite the efforts of the United Nations peacekeeping force. The conflict, as complicated as it was savage, began in 1992 when Bosnia's Serbian minority rebelled against a decision by Yugoslavia's Muslims and Croats to secede. After almost three years of fighting, more than 200,000 people were dead or missing.

1. Andre Agassi was one of the best known entrants in the 1994 U.S. Open, but a year of largely indifferent tennis had left him unseeded and unheralded. So everyone was amazed when he won the tournament—including Agassi. "I'm still in a state of shock," he told the crowd at the U.S. Tennis Center in New York after receiving a check for $500,000 and the champion's silver trophy.

2. Could the world's greatest basketball player make it on the diamond? That was the question in 1994 when Michael Jordan, in his first year of retirement from the Chicago Bulls, signed a contract to play minor league baseball with the Chicago White Sox.

Jordan was hitless in his last four times at-bat, striking out twice to finish the season with a .202 batting average for the Double-A Birmingham Barons.

When Jordan signed in February, he said that he wanted a new challenge and that his father, who was killed the previous year, always wanted him to play baseball.

3. Brazil's offense got all the attention beforehand, but its defense wound up stopping Italy and winning the World Cup, soccer's ultimate prize.

Diving to his left, Brazilian goalkeeper Claudio Taffarel knocked out Daniele Massaro's shot in the penalty kick tiebreaker to set the stage for Brazil's victory. "Penalty kicks are a lottery," said the goalie. "It doesn't show which team is better. You guess right, and it looks easy." This would be Brazil's fourth world title.

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER

On the thirteenth of May, a traditional evening was held. May Carousel has been held at GCHS for several generations. This special evening is the last gathering of the senior girls before graduation.

The Master of Ceremonies, Jacob Erickson, introduced the lovely girls as they were seated. After the girls were seated, the retiring queen, Melissa Carmack, took her throne for one last time. The court members included Debra Dutko, Denise Dutko, Regina Hankins, Amy Johnson, Jeanine McMillan, Beth Noe, Erica Sbabo, Alicia Skirball, Joanna Webb, and Nicole Zelenka. The 1994 May Carousel Queen, Shelley Justice, was escorted by Darren Mosby. Other escorts were Jason Black, David Dutko, Jonathan Galbreath, David Kasproovich, Nathan Owen, Ryan Robertson, Corey Wallis, Chad Wozniak, Jacob Zimmerman, and Joshua Zimmerman.

The evening was highly successful with performances from the Flag Squad, Rifle Squad, Pom Pon Squad, and cheerleaders. The Flag Squad performed to a melody called "Tribal Dance." "Rockin to the Oldies" was performed by the Rifle Squad in memory of squad member Robin Graham. The Pom Pon Squad danced an excellent routine called "Rhythm and Melody." The underclassmen's performances concluded with the cheerleaders performing to "Hey, Hey, Hey Goodbye."

After the performances, the Senior Dance was performed by the following senior class members: Emily Bridges and John Buxton, Brooke Bjorkman and Christopher Kult, Lisa Buske and Aaron Belmer, Jamie Cavaness and Matt Lienemann, Emily Epperson and Benjamin Asbeck, Amy Gebhardt and Mark Winfield, Jill Haddix and Brian Koberna, Paula Heffner and Marvin Bazzell, Jill Moutria and Donald Harris, Kristi Melton and Scott Schaus, Sarah Turck and Charles Noud, and Kimberly York and Donald Murphy. They danced to the song "May I Have This Dance."

Preceding the Senior Dance was the May Pole Dance. Twenty-four senior girls danced around the pole. Those girls were Mary Alvarez, Christina Cahill, Renee Eaglin, Lynsy Evans, Angela Favler, Lori Harris, Kami Kessel, Kelly Mullen, Jamie Ray, Nicole Raynor, Misty Reagan, Sherry Richardson, Jennifer Schwager, Rebecca Shaver, Melanie Solomon, Jessica Thomas, Patricia Thompson, Cathy Trotter, Julia Wienhoff, Dawn Wilson, Jennifer Wojtowicz, and Amy Wright. These young ladies weaved the colorful ribbons of cloth into a glorious braid.

John Buxton sang the theme song "Letting Go." The night ended after the girls from chorus sang "I'll See You Again" accompanied by Aaron Belmer.

Afterwards parents and friends gathered with the seniors as tears flowed and pictures were taken. This was a night to remember.

Ever since you were a baby, two special people have been there to give you their undying love and dedication. They've been there through good and bad times, standing behind you no matter what. These people are your parents.

Some students feel closer to their dad. He was there to teach you about sports and self-defense. Others have a stronger bond with their mom. You can go to your mother to share your feelings and ask her advice. She's always there for you when you have that special problem and need some motherly advice.

It doesn't matter if you're closer to your mother or father, or both. You know that no matter how much trouble you are in, they will never stop giving you their unconditional love and support.

CORONATION

Being on the Homecoming Court is one of the biggest honors for seniors. This year only 10 girls and 10 boys were chosen from more than five hundred seniors.

It is an exciting time for everyone. Waiting for the announcement to see who will be the 1994 king and queen has always had everyone on the edge of their seats. Anxiety and nervousness mingled in the air along with the usual feelings of pride from the parents of all the Homecoming Court members.

The excitement rose to a hush when Mr. Ronald Pennell made the long-awaited announcement. All grew silent in expectation as he announced, "The Homecoming King is Nicholas Novacich. The Homecoming Queen is Amy Reiter." Everyone rejoiced as the two stepped forward to be officially crowned queen and king.

It is an evening everyone will always remember and cherish. The seniors will treasure the memories and the newly crowned queen and king will remember these moments forever.

OH WHAT A NIGHT

At the beginning of the year the one activity that students look forward to most is Homecoming. This year the students of GCHS did not have to wait long. To the joy of many Homecoming was early. After only three weeks of school, it was time to prepare for that exciting week. The first thing many did was buy tickets for the dance. Then before anyone knew it, the big night rolled around.

The annual Homecoming Semi-Formal Dance topped off Homecoming Week. On October 1, 1994, around 8 o'clock students began arriving at the gymnasium ready to dance the night away. First on the agenda of many students was the task of getting their pictures taken. Those who arrived early to the dance were fortunate enough to have their pictures taken with ease. However, those who arrived late to the dance were not so fortunate. They had to stand in long lines. In any case, after students' pictures were taken they were ready to dance, dance, dance! The many chaperones were also enthusiastic and ready to go. Many students found that after dancing to a few songs the gym was a little hot for them. Those students found comfort standing in the foyer or even outside.

Many students made their way back into the gym at 9 o'clock for the Homecoming Court dance. This year's court danced to "Wonderful Tonight" by Eric Clapton. For those who did not make their way into the gym for the Court dance, they definitely made it back for the traditional rose dance. During the rose dance boys bought their dates a rose and gave it to them for that special dance. The rose dance this year was danced to Elton John's "Can You Feel The Love Tonight". Other crowd pleasers were "Y.M.C.A." and "Shout". During those songs and others, many people were lifted above the crowd by their friends.

Regardless of who your date was or what you wore, everyone had fun. The dance was a great finish to a great week.

ARSENIC & OLD LACE

Homecoming Week is the most exciting time of the fall. One event that has always been an important part of the week is the Homecoming Play. This was no exception. The play was "Arsenic & Old Lace". Once again the Speech Department did a great job. The cast selection was excellent. The supporting cast of Bryan Bridges, Matt Ely, Jeremy Gutierrez, Andrew Kamadulski, Richard Spratley, Jimmy Stevens, and Derrick Webb did a fine job. The main cast also did a great job. The parts of Abby and Martha Brewster were played by Tracey Petrillo and Suzanne Lerch. The part of Mortimer was played by Basil Yurcisin. Andrea Malone played Mortimer's fiancée, Elaine Harper. Mortimer Brewster's shady brother, Jonathan, was played by Aaron Smithers. Kevin Randall played Dr. Einstein, Jonathan's assistant. Michael Halbrook played the eccentric nephew, Teddy.

This play takes place in the living room of Martha and Abby Brewster in Brooklyn sometime in the 1940's. These two sisters have an unusual habit of killing lonely gentlemen who stop by their house looking for a room to rent. They invite the unsuspecting gentlemen to a glass of wine. Unfortunately the wine is laced with arsenic. They are quite successful in keeping this past time a secret, largely due to their rather eccentric nephew Teddy. Teddy believes he is Teddy Roosevelt. He makes frequent trips down to the basement where he believes he is going to Panama. Each time the sisters must dispose of a body, they send Teddy down to dig a grave for their victims under the pretense the men have died of Yellow Fever while digging the Panama Canal.

Their secret unravels when Mortimer accidentally finds the body of his aunt's latest victim in the window seat. Not knowing his aunts have hidden the body, he is not sure how to handle the situation. When his aunts tell him they know all about the body, Mortimer is absolutely at a loss as to how to handle this situation. During the course of events Mortimer has become engaged to his fiancée Elaine Harper.

Jonathan, Mortimer's brother, compounds the problem by returning to town after being gone for several years. The family does not recognize Jonathan. He has had his face changed with the help of Dr. Einstein. Once he is recognized, Abby, Martha and Mortimer all want him to leave. Unfortunately, Jonathan also has a dead body he wants to dispose of.

The events that follow are hilarious. Teddy is going to the basement to dig more graves, Jonathan is trying to hide his body and discovers the other bodies in the basement, and Mortimer is attempting to have Teddy moved to a home where he can be taken care of.

In the end, Teddy, Abby, and Martha all go to the home, Jonathan goes away, and Mortimer and Elaine go off together. More importantly, the secret of Abby and Martha remains just that. No one believes that two little old ladies could do such a thing.

Monday, September 26, started off Homecoming Week. This day was designated as 'Come As You Are' or 'Nerd' Day. Students came dressed in their favorite pajamas or their favorite nerd-type character.

House shoes, teddy bears, and pony tails became the common attire of the day. Anything from long pants to shorts, plaids to stripes and slippers to big house shoes walked the halls on Monday.

Nerds were also quite prevalent on this day. They came to school with their eyeglasses taped up and their pants pulled up to their chest. Some favorite accessories were pocket protectors and old out-of-style shoes.

Even though these students would not appear in this month's issue of G.Q. or Vogue, they were full of school spirit and very entertaining.

Poodle skirts, fringe jackets, saddle shoes, bell-bottoms, and tie-dyed everything; these were some of the many types of outfits students wore on Tuesday, September 27, as part of the Spirit Week activities this year.

It was obvious that those who took the time made many preparations coordinating their wardrobe to fit the theme for that day, which was 50's, 60's, and 70's Day. Students raided their parents' closets looking for old, classic styles. Some students even checked out the clothes at the Salvation Army, trying to get lucky and find something unique and vintage that someone discarded to round out their perfectly planned outfits.

Their hair was even fixed to fit the decade they were trying to recreate. Ponytails, braids ironed, and greasy, slicked-back hair styles were some of the many styles worn. Even flowers were added to some of the "hippies" hair to add to their "flower child" appearance.

It was fun to look down the hall and see Greasers, Hippies, and Flower Children dressed up for the occasion. It adds to the spirit and makes the week more interesting for everyone.

WEDNESDAY

Wednesday, September 28, was Disney and Warner Bros. Day. Many students participated in this day by wearing sweatshirts, t-shirts, pants, and jewelry displaying their favorite cartoon character. Some students even painted their faces as little mice and wore the traditional Mickey or Minnie Mouse ears.

Other cartoon characters seen in the GCHS halls were Goofy, the Tasmanian Devil, Bugs Bunny, the Little Mermaid, Marvin the Martian, and other alien creatures.

This day was the third day of Homecoming Week and it was one of the students' favorites. Many students thought it was fun dressing as characters they see on television and in cartoon series. It was definitely a day full of strange characters and tiny little mice.

On Thursday, October 29, part four of the Homecoming Week festivities, was College Sweatshirt or t-shirt Day and Country/Western day. On this particular day everyone was to wear either a sweatshirt or t-shirt of his or her favorite college or dress up in the best western-style clothes one could find.

The halls were filled with students in their cowboy boots and hats. Several came as rugged, cowboy heroes, while others sported outfits similar to our new-style country singers of today.

For those who did not want to go country, college attire was the other popular item of the day. Many students wore items from their favorite college or university. The most prevalent were Illinois, Duke, Michigan, Florida, Missouri, and Notre Dame.

This fourth day of Homecoming Week let the die-hard college team enthusiast show off their favorite university and gave many an opportunity to reveal the hidden cowboy inside of them.

Friday, September 30, was chosen for School Spirit Day, and many people let their school spirit shine through. They showed pride for our school by wearing the Warrior colors.

Red and black clothing was seen throughout the halls on students and teachers alike. They wore GCHS sweatshirts, jackets, football, and hockey jerseys. Some people also painted their faces and wore the traditional Homecoming mum to show school support.

Girls were seen with red and black ribbons in their hair, while others decorated their fingernails with our school colors. Accessories such as jewelry, shoes, socks, and belts also sported the traditional school colors.

Another way to help cheer on the Warriors was to wear an Indian head tattoo. These temporary body ornaments were available for purchase from the Future Secretaries Association for only twenty-five cents. This was a good way for students to help celebrate the final day of the Homecoming Spirit Week.

The 1994 Homecoming football game was a night to remember. The football Warriors gave all they could against the Tigers of Edwardsville, but unfortunately that wasn't enough. The final score was Warriors 13 and Tigers 49.

The bleachers were overflowing with Warrior football fans eager to see a good game and the halftime show. There were students and parents standing on the sidelines because the bleachers were packed with enthusiastic fans.

As halftime approached, the band and the auxiliary squads began to make their way to the football field. When the music began, the fans could feel the presence of an outstanding performance. Everyone was dressed in the school colors of red and black and tried to follow along in perfect time to the music.

Later on, during the halftime show, the members of the Homecoming Court were driven around the football field in new or classic automobiles. Each girl sat with their escort in an open convertible waving to the crowd and family members.

As the game resumed, the Warriors gave it their last shot to become victorious over the Tigers. Despite all their efforts, they were defeated.

They never gave up, however, scoring late in the fourth quarter. But, after the final play was executed and the whistle blown, the players knew the game was over. It was just about the end of the 1994 Homecoming Week.

The team members as well as the coaches will remember what everyone contributed to this year's season. They will also know that not each season is a winning season, and that next year will bring another chance to start all over again.

MY SIBLING BUDDY

You have lived with them your whole life. You see them everyday at home, and now, they are attending school with you. Yes, they are your little brothers and sisters and they have arrived at GCHS. While they were little kids in Junior high, you were always able to leave early for high school. Now everything's changed and you have to take them to school with you.

This sibling you have watched grow up and go through changes has now made it to high school. It seems like just yesterday when he/she was terrified of entering Junior high and came for you for condolence. After all, you had already been through Junior high, and in their eyes, you would definitely know all the answers. Now, the jitters are happening all over again. He/she is a nervous wreck about going to a new, bigger place. Once again you are called upon to help calm down that little brother or sister of yours.

As time goes on and things begin to settled down, your younger sibling realizes everything you told them about school being "just fine" was right. They soon calm down and start to think that they are really cool. Having an older sibling around at school gives them security.

As you walk down the hall and see him/her coming, go ahead and pick on them; not just because they are freshman, but because you love them. That is what older brothers and sisters are there for. Even though you may act like you may hate them, in reality, you care and love that little brother or sister of yours. They will soon be growing into mature young adults facing more responsibilities, but these young adults will always be known to you as your little brother or sister. Every time you look at them, no matter how old they are, you will always be reminded of childhood memories. In a few years, things will be different. They will be the big seniors at GCHS and you will be gone, but one thing that will never change is the fact that you are forever the older child.

EXAMPLE OF PERFECTION

Webster's Dictionary defines the word "hero" as, "any man admired for his courage, nobility, or bold deeds, any man thought of as an ideal or model." There are many people who have someone that they consider to be their hero. To many, heroes are an example of perfection. They serve as a source of inspiration and hope. It seems that heroes are almost superhuman; they possess certain powers, trademarks, or abilities that nobody else could ever have.

Heroes can be anyone; they range from everyday people to the more extraordinary and famous. A hero may be someone that one may not know personally, but rather feels they know because of their hero's special qualities. Sometimes musicians, actors, and those who are great leaders fit this category. Because of what they do and stand for, that is why someone may consider them to be a hero.

On the other hand, one may have a hero that is more well-known to that person. Their familiarity and comfort with their hero allows them to be closer and have more of a personal bond. Knowing and admiring someone in that way can be a very influential factor in their life. For example, this year the president of the Granite City school board is Mr. Pete Novacich. His son, Nicholas Novacich, is the 1995 Student Council president of G.C.H.S. Having such an important factor in one's life may have inspired our student body president to following his father's footsteps into the role of leader of our school. As many would state it, "Like father, like son."

Heroes are a kind all their own. Their special qualities and characteristics set them apart from the rest of the crowd. Having the ability to influence and inspire is something that not everyone can possess, which is why their role is so important to so many and will never be forgotten.

WE BELONG TOGETHER

They seem to be everywhere you look; in the hallways, by your locker, sitting beside each other at school activities looking deeply into each others eyes. Yes, these characteristics I'm referring to belong to couples. Couples are those people who have decided to give up the free and single life to dedicate themselves to one special somebody.

Couples are sweet. Couples are cute. Couples are the hand-holding, kiss-sneaking sweethearts that everyone, whether they admit it or not, wishes they could be at some point or another. It is always nice to have an automatic date to a dance and someone to do things with on the weekends. The idea of having someone to care about and be there for you appeals to everyone, but for many, the chore of actually finding a "soulmate" is not an easy process. In fact, it can be one of the most difficult obstacles you will undertake in your life.

Many things must be considered when searching for somebody. Are looks important to you? Should they be intelligent? Athletic? Quiet? Outgoing? The list goes on and on; it all just depends on your own particular taste.

Couples also come in many different varieties. There are those couples who are glued to each other and cannot bear the idea of being without the other for a second. These people love each others company and when asked, will answer immediately exactly how long they have been "going out", even down to the minutes. Another type include the couples who like to be with each other but still need their space. They do not need to spend every waking moment together and like to take time out to spend with their friends.

In the long run, couples come in many different types. Sometimes the best couples are the ones who seem totally incompatible, yet have realized that cooperation and caring can make any relationship work.

Pick the person you would like to be with and go for it — you never know what may happen. Besides, it's worth the risk. Good luck!

DANCE WITH ME HENRY

"One, two, cha-cha-cha, three, four, cha-cha-cha . . ." These are the familiar words you can hear from Terry Papa and Linda Hill during a regular day in Senior Dance. Our physical education department offers this course the second nine weeks of the first semester to all seniors. This class is a nice alternative to the regular P.E. classes because it gives seniors time to relax and talk with friends while they learn many different types of dances. Another advantage to this class is that you do not have to dress in your normal gym clothes. The only changing required is into a comfortable pair of tennis shoes.

The seniors learn to dance to songs from Billy Joel to the Beach Boys to Garth Brooks. Some of the different types of dances one can learn are the Fox Trot, Waltz, Cha-Cha, Jitterbug, and a variety of square dances. Sometimes country line dances, the Texas Two-Step, the Barn Dance, and the Polka are taught and practiced in this nine-week long course. Mrs. Papa and Mrs. Hill break each of these dances down to simple steps to make it easier to teach the dances to all of their students in such a short period of time.

Senior dance is one of the classes that many seniors will be able to look back on and remember all the fun times they had. Although, in the beginning, many were nervous that they would not be able to find a partner, or were worried about stepping all over their partner's feet. It all worked out in the end. The course not only shows seniors the basics of many types of dances, but, as Mrs. Papa states, "Senior Dance will be helpful to you in the future. You now have dance and social skills that you will be able to use the rest of your life."

JANUARY GRADUATES

After attending all the years of school together, this year many of the seniors will finally be leaving these hallowed halls and graduating with the class of 1995. All of the endless hours of homework, the late-night studying, and survival of the toughest quizzes, tests, and final exams have finally paid off. Because of their hard work and extra effort, these students now have reached the end of their high school career.

Sometimes, because of certain circumstances, some of these soon-to-be graduates have the option of graduating early. In January, a special ceremony is held for all those students meeting the requirements that make them eligible for an early promotion.

This year, on January 20, 1995, twenty-five seniors met in the auditorium for a small graduation. These seniors are the following: Kristen Ann Bogue, Billy Gerald Bronaugh, Stephanie Kay Broyles, Robert Wayne Castle, Jason Charles Dittrich, Jeremy Robert Emanuel Fernandez, Elizabeth Ann Hayes, Rebecca Lynn Helton, Shawn DaWain Holt, James Daniel Jacobs, Julie Dee Kern, Scott Robert Lybarger, Bobby Dean Madewell, April Sue Martin, Dana Fay Martin, Danielle Rae Martin, Stan Raymon Martinez, Kimberly Dawn McNall, Matthew Allen Noffsinger, Dustin Alan Richards, Jaclyn Gail Stallings, Robin Eric Thurston, Amie Daneyle Watson, Shannon Dawn Windsor, and Jason Dale Winters.

TALK TO ME

"Is that telephone glue to your ear?" Will we have to have that telephone surgically removed from your ear?" "You can't use the telephone after 10." "You aren't the only person in the house that needs to use the telephone!"

These statements and many more are heard each and every day in homes where teenagers live. Alexander Graham Bell could not have known the impact his little invention would have on life — especially a teenager's life. We, as teenagers, use the telephone constantly. During the week, we use the phone to get help on our homework, but usually, we use the phone just to call our friends and chat about the day or to harvest more gossip. Come Thursday evening, no one is discussing homework; they are beginning to make plans for Friday night. It is easy to see why the phone is so important in our daily lives.

The executives of the telephone companies have worked hard to make sure that the telephone has become an important part of teenage life. Once there was a time when talking on the phone meant that you were not be able to know if someone else was trying to get a hold of you. Now, however, call-waiting has solved this problem. All you have to do is merely touch the switch. The person you are talking to is placed on hold and you can talk to the other caller, so you never have to miss a call. Another great invention for teenagers is something known as three-way calling. Using this, three people can talk on the phone at once.

Parents are constantly trying to limit the use of the telephone. They set up rules regarding time and length of calls. Generally, these rules do not last very long, but they try to limit our use anyway. Even though the telephone can certainly be a source of grief, it does not seem to bother us much. After all, we have to make sure our homework is correct, gee, what's happening Friday, and by the way, did you hear.....

READY .. AIM .. SHOOT

Archery was one of the main lines of defense in the days of Robin Hood and the Crusades. Now, it serves as a part of the Physical Education curriculum of Granite City Senior High. This is one of the few classes where the students have a chance to perform individually and have contests with their classmates. The co-ed nature of the class allows the girls and guys to compete against one another, pushing each other to strive for perfection.

Those who participate in the shooting of arrows are called archers. To become an outstanding archer, you must obtain a balance of accuracy, strength, and have a keen judgment of outside forces and distances. Archers are introduced to a new form of exercise and sportsmanship which allow them the chance of having fun while staying fit.

The object of archery is to hit the target with the six arrows you are provided. Scoring is as follows; nine points scored for a mark of a bull's eye, seven points for a red ring, five points for a blue ring, three points for a yellow and one point for a white. All arrows must at least hit the target, and if they do not stick, you are awarded six points. The highest possible score you can accumulate is a fifty-four, provided you only use six arrows.

THE IMPORTANT FAN

Fans: they are the backbone of our athletics, supporting the team and raising school spirit. The most loyal fans are willing to travel to every event, brave all types of weather conditions, and sit through the entire game, regardless if they are winning or losing, to cheer on their team. They are the loudest, proudest and most excited people at the games. It is the fans loyalty, dedication and support that helps drive the team and keep the players motivated. Many athletes really appreciate the fans and feel that a crowd that backs the team through the good and bad moments of a game can be a helpful factor in the team's performance.

For instance, this year our boy's soccer team had advanced to the state tournament. This was a huge sporting event for many and a soccer fan's dream. Tons of fans from Granite City traveled to Chicago to watch the game and support the Warriors, and their enthusiasm really showed. The Warriors were, without a doubt, the loudest, most excited, and craziest of everyone that was in attendance. They chanted, cheered, and screamed at every game, trying to push the team and give the soccer players confidence. In turn, the fans involvement helped the players know that we were behind the team 100%.

In the end, all of the effort did pay off. What resulted from the tournament was a win for the Warriors over the number one team in the Chicago area and a second place state finish overall. Granite fans believe in their teams and are loyal to the Warriors. Their support helped them achieve an outstanding season and a record in which to be proud. Supportive fans can really make the team gel and give them the confidence they need to push them forward. Great fans can make a great team. Your dedication and belief can make all the difference in the world.

OUR LAST YEAR

Senioritis is a condition that affects those fourth year students on the verge of graduation. It seems that every senior becomes infected with this bug sometime or another during their senior year; it is inevitable. Some of the classic symptoms include not paying attention in classes, blowing off major tests, and neglecting to finish, or for that matter, even beginning to do any homework. Listlessness, boredom, and disinterest are also major signs. Usually, these cases appear around your second semester of your senior year, but if the virus is severe, Senioritis may infect you sometime during your first semester.

Although these symptoms are also shared by many underclassman, for Seniors, the case is much more worse. The reasons why are actually quite obvious. By the time you become a senior you should have completed your third year of high school, or technically, twelve years of actual school. When you finally reach that last year — supposedly your best year — of school, it's natural to feel tired and lazy. It seems that the whole future is just sitting out there, waiting to be taken by you, making it even harder to concentrate on high school life. Most of the seniors have big plans for after graduation and neglect to remember that they still have responsibilities here at school. When there is so much to do and see and so many activities and events during your senior year, it's hard to stay focused on school, but it is important that we do.

Seniors need to realize that their senior year is not a time to simply sit back, relax, and go with the flow until graduation. It is important that seniors remember what school is for, getting and education and trying to get the most out of what school can offer. To do well in the future, we have to do well in school. I realize it is easier to say than do, but try to hang in there. It's only one more year and it definitely will pay off.

THE NEW JOB MARKET

New jobs and careers are appearing all over the world. Fields of study, such as computer science and genetic engineering, have become some of the most popular careers of students graduating from college. As the centuries change, the demand for specialized and complex jobs will be steadily increasing.

Computer science has been the most popular new field of study in college. Fifteen years ago, the average American citizen had never heard of a computer. Now, as our society grows more technological, computers have become a common household item. Computer scientists work with older, out of date software and programs in order to find newer improved software. Artificial intelligence computers and computers that think and speak on their own. These computers have helped create the newest jobs appearing in the field of science. In the future, human-like robots and computers will need newer, advanced types of mechanical brains. Because of this, computer scientists have the duty to develop the perfect artificial intelligence.

Helping a woman choose the sex of her child and finding a cure for cancer are just two of the many jobs of a genetic engineer. They deal with the cells of the human body and work to understand how the cells are created and duplicated. They work with DNA and genes and how these affect the development of a human. Right now, genetic engineers can create an entire gene map of a human. These can be used for finding cures for types of cancer that are passed from mother to child. It can also be used to change the makeup of a cell so the mother can choose the sex of a new child.

These are just two of the many new and growing jobs of the future. As the years pass, many more new and specialized jobs will be created. The idea of asking your computer to do anything you need or having it talk back to you is no longer a dream; it is a reality.

WALKING IN COMFORT

Everyone wears shoes, and everyone has a different shoe taste. Some people like casual footwear, while others prefer to go for a dressier look. In any case, shoe stores offer a wide variety from which to choose.

Many people are most comfortable in athletic footwear, and there are many choices in this category, such as basketball, walking, and cross-training shoes. Some popular brands include Fila, Nike, and Adidas.

One type of athletic shoe with growing popularity is the Converse All-Star, or "Chucks." These are comfortable canvas basketball shoes with the familiar white rubber toe and blue star on the ankle. A similar type of shoe that is being seen more frequently is the Converse One-Star. They offer something a little different from the All-Star, which many people think is too trendy. The suede One-Stars, which come in a variety of colors, have more of a 70's look.

Other people want their feet to look nicer. Girls may wear flats or heels. Both girls and guys like loafers for casual and dressy times, and there are many other classic styles of shoes that you may pick. The one problem with these types of shoes is sometimes you may want to put style before comfort.

Boots of all kinds are becoming more popular, especially combat boots. Many people like the designer brands, such as Doc Martens. Others want real steel-toed jungle boots you can find at military surplus stores.

Although there are thousands of varieties of shoes, you may be tempted to choose a style of shoe that may not be the most comfortable. Just remember that you have to wear shoes, so you might as well pick a comfortable pair. Your feet will thank you.

THE MESS HALL

High school is an institution of exciting experiences and the center of social growth in a teenager's life. One of the most important parts of these experiences is a half-hour a day thing that we like to call "lunch".

A person can catch up on the latest gossip, plan his or her weekend, and maybe finish up a little uncompleted homework, all while stuffing his face with meatloaf and instant mashed potatoes. Some students may not choose the blue-plate special as their meal for the day, but rather feast on Ho-Ho's and Diet Slice. There are several thousand varieties of wholesome delectables that may be chosen from if one is not inclined to select the ever-popular boat o' fries. Such possible items include: chocolate and powdered donuts, cheddar-cheese popcorn, glazed fruit pies, and every type of potato chip and Hostess product known to man.

But that's not all! After waiting several minutes in line, the task of finding a suitable place to rest your rump begins. This isn't the end of the adventure, though. Once you have found your seat, the title bout for elbow room between you and the guy next to you will soon be underway. In addition, your fine dining experience is complimented by enchanting melodies ranging from Garth Brooks to Nine Inch Nails which permeate throughout the cafeteria.

All in all, the cafeteria experience is one of the most pleasurable of your academic days and one that you will remember for the rest of your existence.

THE REAL WORLD

Not having to go to high school anymore will leave a lot of free time for many of the graduating students here at GCHS. The question of what to do with the rest of their lives is on many seniors' minds. Fear and anxiety often overwhelm many seniors as they move towards the end of their high school career. Not knowing what to do next or what to expect can usually cause these emotions.

To a person just entering "the real world", the opportunities can seem endless. The decision seniors must make is an important and long-lasting one. This decision they make now is going to have an impact on the rest of their lives. That is why the pressure is on to determine the correct pathway for yourself.

Many students choose to go to college or more schooling so they can better educate themselves. Now that they have found the direction they want to go, they must choose a school. Whether it be an out of state or local school, this is a crucial decision that must be seriously thought about.

Choosing what college to attend can be hard to do. When some students at GCHS were asked what college they wish to attend and why, their responses varied. "Anywhere away, to get the full college atmosphere," replied Jill Hellrich. Joel Belmer says, "I.T.T. Tech, because you can graduate in four months." Travis Mills wants to go to "Rolla, because I want to be an engineer." Joanna Groboski adds "I want to go to St. Louis College of Pharmacy to make money."

A few students make the decision to go into the military, either as their start at life or for their career. The military is also an institution for people to better themselves and become more well-rounded individuals. Military programs teach discipline and strength, which are essential to survive in the real world. Some people decide to stay with the military their whole life, while others serve to get funds for school. For many students, the military is just used as a stepping stone to get from high school to college.

While many seniors go on to pursue their lives academically, others go on to further their personal lives. A few seniors will go into the real world and marry that special someone. Whether it be a high school sweetheart or some new love some seniors will be joined in holy matrimony. Many will start a family, while others will go to college.

After graduating from GCHS choices have to be made in order to go on with life. Whatever path seniors take is for their own best and will hopefully turn out to be a successful one.

ATHLETES

Shawn Petroski and Holly Farnsworth were selected as the athletes of the class of 1995. For four years, these athletes have invested time, dedication, and hard work into the sports at GCHS. These seniors have earned honors, wins, broken records, conference and regional titles, and trips to state during their athletic careers.

Holly participated in soccer for four years, basketball for two years, and cross country for one year. Shawn played baseball for the Warriors for one year and played soccer all four years of high school. He helped lead the Warrior soccer team to state, and, in the process, broke the school record for goals scored in a season.

BODY

Many students do their best to keep themselves in good shape. Not just for the personal satisfaction of looking good, but for health reasons as well. For the 1994-95 school year, Amy Reiter and Robert Pickerell were voted to have the most beautiful bodies at GCHS.

Amy had kept herself in shape over the years by participating in the flag squad and pom-pom squad. She is now the captain of the pom-pom squad. Robert tries to keep his body toned by lifting weights, working out, and eating healthy.

EINSTEINS

This year's Einstein award goes to two of the senior class's brightest and most hard-working students. Their leadership in the classroom has made these two stand out from the rest. These students have displayed their dedication by striving for perfection in every area of their schoolwork.

Sabina Kumar and Jason Mathes have shown that they are the most intelligent of the school's academically gifted students. Sabina and Jason were chosen as 'most likely to succeed' upon their completion of junior high school.

They have complimented their academic ability by participating in such organizations as National Honor Society, Youth Leadership St. Louis and Alpha Peer Leaders. Sabina is also the 1995 Valedictorian of GCHS.

FASHION

Students at GCHS this year wore many different styles of clothing. They wore oversized sweatshirts, faded jeans, Converse shoes, wool socks, and button thermal shirts.

Some students shopped at the Galleria, St. Clair Square, Chesterfield, or Northwest Plaza. Some others, however, went to the Salvation Army to purchase items contributing to their unique style.

This year two students stood out with good fashion and outstanding skills in coordinating their clothing. Erin Roberston and Jeffrey Puszczek always seem to dress as if they belong in a magazine. Who knows, maybe someday they will be on the cover of a national publication.

HAIR

At one time or another we have all heard the phrase "it's the 90's". In the 90's, just about everything goes. That is true for all things including hair: short, long, straight, and curly are all popular.

The Senior class of 1995 felt Kim McNall and Ricky Roberts had the best hair of their class. Kim wears her red hair long, straight and occasionally wavy. Ricky wears his dark hair long and natural.

PERSONALITY

Personality is the one thing most look for in a person as well as in a friend. A personality can determine whether someone is a great friend or just a good friend. Many characteristics lead to one's personality, such as a sense of humor, friendliness, and compassion.

When the senior class was asked who they thought had the best personality, Melanie Kosuge and Jason Wood were selected.

With a good personality one will go far in the real world. If this is true, then these two people have a head start to a good future.

REPRESENTATIVES

Out of the entire class of '95, two seniors received a special honor bestowed upon them by their fellow students. That honor is the title of representative.

This year the representatives are Erin Robertson and Nicholas Novacich. These two seniors achieved this title by earning the respect of their peers and by setting a good example for the rest of the student body to follow.

Their names will be permanently inscribed as the 1995 class representatives on a special display that hangs in the main hall.

SMILE

A smile can bring a little more life to a bad day and brighten the feelings of others around them.

A smile from anyone can be a delightful treat to those who are under the weather. This year's seniors said that in the graduating class of 1995 Carrie Schaus and Mike Kalips had a smile for all occasions.

SWEETHEARTS

Many of the seniors in the class of 1995 were searching for a special somebody to share their time. While some people were only looking to find a casual dating partner, others wanted longer and more meaningful relationships. This year, the class sweethearts were Toni Mendez and Todd Williams.

Todd and Toni have been together since their freshmen year. Willingness, cooperation, and caring have helped these two see through the best and worst of everything and still stay together. They understand what it takes to make a relationship work.

HOT SEPTEMBER DAYS

Although the regular school year began at a later date than usual this year, students still got an early start on school. For the first two weeks of classes, the Granite City School District put into effect a heat schedule. Because most schools in the area are without air-conditioning, it was necessary to keep students out of class during the hotter hours of the day.

Instead of sweating in a hot and muggy classroom from 8 o'clock a.m. until 3:07 p.m., this schedule allowed students to escape at least some of the heat by altering the hours of the average GCHS school day. From August 31 until September 9, 1994, school began at 7 o'clock a.m. and went until 1 o'clock p.m.

For some, the heat schedule is a very convenient idea. Besides the obvious fact that it helps relieve one of the heat, it also shortens the time everyone must spend in class. Some students' comments about the heat schedule include one from junior Summer Kosuge who says, "I actually like the heat schedule. The days go by a lot faster and it is nice to get out of school early and still have most of the day left."

Laurie Barron, also a junior, states, "Even though the days are shorter, it is really hard to have to get up at 5:30 a.m. and get yourself ready to school by 7 o'clock. But I think for the most part, the heat schedule is a really good idea."

The heat schedule did not seem like much of a change in the regular day for most students, but the difference did make school a little more interesting. It made the adjustment from the lazy days of summer to the normal school day somewhat easier.

GOODBYE OLD FRIENDS

Your friends have been there for you all of your life, but suddenly they will be moving along. The time will soon come when they must go on to better educate themselves and go into the real world. Unfortunately, you will be left behind here in this place we call high school. Leaving high school is an inevitable part of everyone's life. This means your senior friends must have to leave too.

A few juniors were asked if they would miss their senior friends and why? Buddy Prazma replied, "Yes, I grew up with a lot of them and it will be different not seeing them next year." Erin Cain added, "Yes, because my senior friend is my tennis partner and because all the cute senior boys are leaving." Jennifer Hendrickson and Eryn Ellis both said, "Yes, because we hang around with mostly seniors and we'll miss them dearly."

Many people become friends because they have common interests. Going to years of football games, soccer games, and dances can bond friends together. But when your friends move on, their interests may change and differ from your own. Trying to remain friends can be a hard and awkward time for the both of you. The long distance calls can get too expensive and the letters can only be written so often. There is no longer anything to talk or write about so the calls and letters stop all together. Eventually these people who you saw everyday and walked to class with will fade away all together.

Although most friends drift away when one of them leaves high school, there is that small percentage that remains friends for life. For those people who do remain friends the years of memories stay fresh in their minds. They will always remember their high school years together and cherish those times. Friends may come and go but your true friends will always be with you.

SKELETON IN THE CLOSET

It's 11:45 You're nearly an hour late, so you try to close the door without waking your parents. You start across the living room floor, confident you won't get caught, when the lights come on. Your mother's serious look wipes the smile off your face as she asks, "Where have you been?"

"I was caught by a train," you reply, but your mom doesn't buy it. She caught you.

Why not just tell the truth? Some students don't want to get into trouble, while others think their punishment will be worse if the truth be known. Sometimes you feel you have to stretch the truth in order to protect the feelings of your friends and family.

While small white lies may protect people, some teens exaggerate on a larger scale. All too often, if you tell one little story, you have to cover up for other things to keep from getting caught. This can persist until you are in over your head. In this case, a teenager has one of two options-come clean or just keep on with your exaggerations.

Still another reason for telling tales is to win the acceptance of others. A student may lie about his interests to become part of a particular "group." Some people feel the need to exaggerate small details to try and impress their peers.

Teenagers stretch the truth for many reasons. Next time you're in a sticky situation, consider just coming clean and telling it just like it is.

HOLD UP THAT CHALKBOARD

You hear the announcements during the first week of school. On the big day, you put on a shirt that seems appropriate for the school yearbook. Then, in your gym class, you wait in line for what seems like forever to get your picture taken.

Getting your picture taken, whether it is for your school i.d. or for the yearbook, is an important part of your stay at GCHS. This is the picture everyone is going to be seen throughout the year and in later years for sentimental reasons. So you should try to make this picture memorable, but don't make it the one that everyone thinks, "I'm glad my picture doesn't look like that."

One thing that students may not look forward to on picture day is holding up the chalkboard. About every hundredth student is allowed this honor. These students may think that no one will ever see these pictures, so they don't care what it looks like. What they may not think about is these pictures are definitely going to be seen. When the student receives a yearbook, they will groan and try to keep their friends from seeing it.

Holding up the chalkboard is just one of the joys of picture day. Freshmen and juniors also have to get an i.d., and that is a whole other story.

GETTING A GOOD JOB

"Mom, can I have some money PLEASE . . . ?"

For many teenagers in the junior class, the days of asking mom and dad for a little extra money are over. Now these sixteen year olds must face the responsibility of getting a job.

Juniors look for work for a number of reasons. Some people's parents require a student to get a job, which can teach a teenager about responsibility and handling money. These sixteen year olds may want to buy a car, or they may have a car, but need money for gas and insurance. Other teens get a job for a little extra pocket change for clothing, compact discs, and weekend activities.

The search for employment can be long and frustrating. Many times the job a teenager acquires is not their first choice. Students can choose a job at a fast food place, such as McDonald's. Other options are working for supermarkets, retail stores, or movie theatres. The Granite City Park District is open to teenagers who enjoy participating in outdoor activities, or who would like to help maintain the beauty of Wilson Park.

For some people, however, being their own boss is an appealing idea. These students can make their own money by cutting grass or pulling weeds. Self-employment does have drawbacks, though. Lawn care can mean long hours in the hot sun, and you may not get many customers.

Young adults of both sexes find babysitting a worthwhile job. If the kids are well-behaved and sleep most of the time, a teenager can earn a little easy money. If the children are unruly and disobedient, the babysitter may feel the need to go home and just relax when the day is through.

Though many students hunt for a job during their junior year, other teens remain unemployed through high school. They may need to devote most of their free time to studying and school-related activities. These students might want to hang on to their youth, for whether they like it or not, teenagers eventually have to face up to the responsibility of getting a job. It's just one more step necessary in becoming an adult.

THE MOSH PIT

Every year, hundreds of thousands of teenagers all over the United States flock to ticket booths to buy tickets for their favorite concerts. They go to these concerts to socialize, listen to good music, and mosh.

What is moshing? Basically, moshing is a large group of people jumping and slamming into each other. This group is called the "mosh pit." Different people have different reasons to engage in this concert pastime. One reason is for a rush of adrenaline, or a sort of "natural high." Other fans mosh when a particular song or group they don't like is playing so they don't have to listen.

What kinds of music do people mosh to? No one moshes to Garth Brooks or Barry Manilow. Most people like moshing to "heavy" or "hard" music, such as Green Day or They Might Be Giants. When asked what music groups she moshes to, Tiffany Austin replied, "Nine Inch Nails, Pearl Jam, and Rage Against the Machine are groups I prefer to mosh to."

Other people, like Chris Drakeford, mosh to groups that have a few mellow songs. Chris told us, "I love to mosh to Smashing Pumpkins." Then there are a few people who take part in this activity for stranger purposes. Ginger Gerstner said, "I like to mosh to the music in my head."

For whatever music teens listen to, and for whatever reasons, moshing is the current craze at concerts. How long will this craze last? Nobody knows.

TALKING AND SHARING

Students usually do their homework, watch television, or go to a high school sporting event during the week. However, some students gather together to talk and have fun at a friend's house. This group is called the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, or F.C.A.

Every other Monday night F.C.A. goes to a member's house. They play games and talk about school. During the holidays the group gathers food and makes Thanksgiving Baskets for the less fortunate in the immediate area. At Christmas time they go caroling at nursing homes.

The sponsors of this club are Laura Chappell and David Trower. Miss Chappell and Mr. Trower are important members in this group because they give students advice and support. The group also has officers to help keep everything organized. These officers are President Karrie Cowin, Vice-Presidents Jill Wozniak and Marcie Holsinger, Secretary/Treasurer Jeff Wallis and Program Coordinator Jayson York.

DREAM GIRL AND BOY

Your heart starts to beat faster, your stomach knots up, your tongue gets tied and you can't speak. Do these classic symptoms sound familiar to you? These feelings are familiar to everyone. They are the feelings you experience when your "dream guy/girl" is near. Whether they admit it or not, everyone has someone they really admire and would like to get to know better.

For some strange, cosmic reason these special people can affect you in some very weird ways. Just a brush of their sleeve against your arm or a whiff of their heavenly cologne or perfume can make you weak in the knees and send you reeling. Everything about them seems perfect and it makes your day to catch a glimpse of them in the halls.

Also strange are the way people react to the dream girls or guys. Some people get so nervous that they feel totally awkward and go out of their way to ignore that person so they do not do anything stupid in front of them. Still, others find they must be in total contact with their special someone at all times. They make up any excuse they can think of and find out their dream persons schedule and plans just to be close to them.

What is that about these wonderful people that makes them so extraordinary? Why do these people stand out above the rest of the crowd? Is it their looks? Personality? Charm? What is it about their smile that can melt your heart?

Some students explained who they have noticed and why they think they are "dreamy".

Junior Hillary Sanders says, "I like Dean Cain from Superman."

Maybe the world will never know what makes someone seem so wonderful, but whatever it is, we're glad they have it and don't ever want them to lose it.

BEYOND THE YEAR 2000

Technology is one of the things that make living in the twentieth century great. The mere thought of having a picture phone was only a dream seen in movies about the future and the Jetsons cartoon. Now the picture phone is no longer a dream. The passing years have brought many new things to make life fun and easier.

One of the greatest and talked about achievements is the advanced personal computer. The idea of a computer was developed in the late 1800's. Now it has been developed to a vast market of business and entertainment. Using special computer hardware, one person can talk to another across the country through the phone lines. Also, the technology of the CD-ROM Drive allows you to include yourself in virtual reality with real sound and precise graphics.

Businesses now have the power to have a conference over their computer with a microphone installed within the computer and a camera on top of the screen; this allows easier and less time consuming meetings along the line. This is very valuable to a business because time is money. E-Mail over Internet, an online service is another computer technology that was just enhanced another step. Now you can send a message from Illinois to Washington, D.C. in a matter of seconds. This process is done by accessing the online service Internet which is connected to a big satellite dish which then sends your message to an outerspace satellite. It is then redirected to the right place. This process happens in less than five seconds. These store formulas, work complex problems, and even graph pictures. The hard life of a math student has been put to an end by these new advanced calculators.

Technology has also improved sports and fitness. Scientists have created new lines of shoes, which can build muscle faster, and increase one's speed. For basketball players, technology can make it easier to slam dunk. Clothing and exercise equipment has also improved. Weighted vests and more powerful machines build muscle and strength faster.

As the year 2000 rolls near, more dreams will become a reality. Living in the age of technology is truly one of the best advantages of the twentieth century. The electric and flying car, the cure to all medical diseases and houses in outer space will all be a reality in the years to come.

THE SPORT OF DATING

Sometimes more crucial than the date itself is the decision of where you are going to go. There are so many activities that you can entertain yourselves with, no matter what amount of time or money you have.

The movies are a classic in date night themes. Here you can see a movie, sit in the dark with a great male or female counterpart and enjoy a delicious bowl of popcorn along with a cold refreshment. The atmosphere is usually perfect for a date, but if not there is usually an arcade or a large concession stand to occupy part of the time.

The mall is another setting for a date or for the chance for the guys and gals to check each other out. The gazing and gawking as members of the opposite sex walk by are great for humoring the mind. Though, if you can not find that special someone and the mall is empty, then you can always buy that compact disc that you wanted, with the money you saved for the date.

The date spot is something that must be thought out and planned. On some occasions a more spontaneous attitude is required. Whatever the situation, the date must consist of partners who have money, abling them to have fun and return safely.

SIMPLY THE BEST

AS THE WORLD TURNS

Imagine one day packing up and moving to a foreign country where nothing or nobody is familiar. Trying to adjust in a new part of the world, starting from scratch, and making new friends is a terrifying thought, but it is also a very exciting and educational experience. Moving to another country and experiencing how someone from a different area lives their life can be a wonderful adventure. This is all part of being a foreign exchange student.

Foreign exchange students participate in a program which a club or organization sponsors a student to take a semester or two of courses in a foreign country. Usually, if a school sends out a certain number of students, that school receives the same amount from different countries around the world. Matthew Bringer and Amy Schillinger, both students from G.C.H.S., are participating in the exchange program this year. Matt is staying in Finland and Amy is staying in Austria.

In a similar situation, G.C.H.S. is hosting three students, Alejandra Ardanuy from Spain, and Maria Coimbra and Vasco Vasques from Brazil. While they are here they live with a selected family, attend school on a daily basis, and participate in the same activities as most Granite City High students.

Alejandra Ardanuy is one of the foreign exchange students at G.C.H.S. She is a native of Spain from the city of Huesca, near the border of France. At G.C.H.S., Alejandra plays for the tennis team. She also enjoys the game of golf and loves ice skating. Alejandra said that "classes here are easier than in Spain, but it is more difficult to make friends." Despite this, she has adjusted well to school life in the United States.

Our second foreign student is Vasco Vasques of Brazil. Vasco resides in a city in the Amazon state of Brazil which is surrounded by the jungle. Vasco had no trouble adjusting to American life. He has easily made several friends and enjoyed going to parties and playing soccer with them. His classes here at G.C.H.S. are easier than in Brazil except for english. One thing he says of the U.S. is that it is not much of a shock living here because there is so much American culture in Brazil. Vasco has enjoyed living in Granite City and one day hopes to attend college in the United States.

Maria Coimbra is the third exchange student at G.C.H.S. Maria easily fits in to a new way of life. She has had little trouble in adjusting to American culture. At G.C.H.S., Maria played on the J.V. volleyball team and intends to seriously play basketball in the winter. "I am looking forward to representing the Warriors in a game." As a new student in Granite City, Maria says that her fellow students have made her feel welcome as an exchange student. She is a diligent worker and greatly concentrates on her schoolwork. This will help her in the future when she plans to attend Washington University in St. Louis.

The foreign exchange program is a learning experience for those involved, both directly and indirectly. It gives us, as well as the exchange students, a chance to see what another culture is like and compare the differences between American society to another.

GCHS FANS ARE #1

Imagine you are at a Friday night football game. The bleachers are packed, the band is playing, and the team is warming up, getting ready for the big game. Everyone is excited and full of school spirit, ready to cheer on their team. Warrior spirit can be seen and felt throughout the student body. It is nice to know that we can take pride in our school and realize how important it is to stand behind our school and its activities and athletics.

Spirit is what drives the team and makes the sporting events fun. The best games of the year are always when the fans are into the games. Everyone has fun when the crowd is lively.

The school does a good job of getting everyone involved. The most obvious example is the week before the annual Homecoming Dance, called "Spirit Week". This week includes dressing up to fit special 'theme' days. It also includes selling Homecoming mums, sports spirit ribbons, carnations, going to the Homecoming Parade, the play, coronation of the Homecoming King and Queen, the football game, and the semi-formal dance.

Everyone should be involved in school activities. It makes everyday more interesting and exciting, because you are actually a part of the school.

WEEKEND ENTERTAINMENT

"What do you want to do tonight?" "I don't know. What do you want to do?"

For many teenagers, this is the routine for Friday and Saturday nights. But sooner or later they figure out what they want to do. What high school sophomores do on weekends depends on their moods and if there's anything new to do.

There are many choices of what to do on weekends, but transportation is a major concern. Since most sophomores don't have a drivers license, this can be a problem. Luckier students may have older friends or siblings to drive them around. Some others may have to resort to having their parents take them places, and then there are the unlucky ones who can't get a ride anywhere. These teens might have to stay home.

Staying home on the weekend may seem horrible. Students can make it worthwhile by having a party or having friends over. If this doesn't work, you can just stay home alone. This time can be used to meditate or catch up on homework. Also, you can talk on the phone or sleep.

Some people have no problem with transportation. These students can go watch a sport at school, go to the mall, or just cruise around. All these activities allow teenage guys and girls to check out members of the opposite sex who may be interested.

For those who demand entertainment, going to the movies is an option. Music lovers can have fun dancing and listening to a good band if there's a concert at Riverport.

No matter how much there is to do, teenagers everywhere soon become bored with their surroundings. When this happens, all you have to do is spend the weekend with your fun-loving, wonderful, most appreciative parents.

ON THE ROAD AGAIN

Your sophomore year is the big year in which most students get drivers education. Since these students have been waiting for this for sixteen-years, this can be a real nerve-breaking experience. Some sophomore's are so excited about getting their licenses they have already planned where they are going to go.

When sophomores were asked where the first place they would drive, many responses were given. Joshua Hildebrand said, "I'm going to Disneyland." Samuel Kamphoefner responded by saying, "I will go to my grandmother's house."

Before you actually get behind the wheel, you must take driver's safety. Driver's safety is a nine week class that you study all the rules and safety tips for driving. You must pass all of the tests and quizzes so you can make the grade that lets you on the road. A passing grade is all that is needed to get you to that first step of driving.

Once you pass the class, the permits come. The teachers will have students fill out information cards that will be sent in for their permits. When the permits come in, students get to practice driving with their parents so they can use the rules of the road that they learned in the classroom.

Then the practicing at school starts, finally drivers training starts. Drivers training is the actual driving at school. This class is split up between the wheel of a movie, called simulators, and the wheel of a real car. The switching back and forth every two days can get tiresome but it all pays off at the end.

No matter how nervous you are, learn to relax. Just remember what comes after the class, your license. No more of your mom and dad dropping you off at the show. Driver's licenses gives you the power and the freedom of going whenever you want.

CHRISTMAS AND EASTER BREAK

During the school year students thoughts may drift to three things: Christmas vacation, spring break, and summer vacation. We anxiously count the days until we are given those few days we no longer have to think about upcoming tests, homework, or quiz time.

Once Christmas rolls around, you can feel the merriment of the students as they wait for those days of winter bliss. Then after that, the countdown to spring break begins. Students begin anticipating where they would like to be during this time away from school.

For example, in years gone by, Mr. Shatto has taken groups to many far-away places. Mr. Smallman has also voyaged across the sea with numerous groups. Some students, however, get the pleasures of staying home, watching television, and just relaxing. Regardless of where students went on spring break, it always goes by too quickly.

We then begin the last stretch of school . . . the days between the end of spring break and the beginning of summer. This time could not go by any slower. The weather gets warmer and all you can think about is being outside. Regardless of how close summer seems, it is still so far away. The tests, homework, quizzes, and papers are still coming on strong.

But alas, there is light at the end of the tunnel. You see the light when your teachers begin talking about the final exam policies. Even if you have to take them, you know that school is almost over. Then we are off for three months, three months of total rest and relaxation. Finally summer vacation has arrived and you realize just how fast the school year went by. You also realize it was a fun year and you can't wait to start all over again in August.

THE SUBSTITUTE TEACHER

From the moment you hear your teacher is ill, missing, or taking off, you know your day will be different. The thought of a free day enters your mind and allows your personality to take a step forward. Remembering the last sub you had, you start to picture the new specimen in your head. Will this teacher replacement be female or male and will the sub have any workable knowledge of the subject you are presently in?

Finally the substitute arrives. It's a woman. She's here to perform the job of teacher and disciplinarian. She's here to make you a little more aware of your subject and to follow the precise instructions of your full-time teacher. Trying to stay calm and cool, she starts off with an introduction.

The class cooperates and the hour begins. The test you thought would not be given today is still scheduled. Now you realize you have a substitute and a test. You hope she knows all about geography so she can answer all your questions before the big test.

Fortunately you have a substitute who is well aware of the subject matter, and you come out of the class a little wiser than when you entered. At the end of the hour you say "good-bye" and wait to see who will be sitting in the big desk tomorrow.

ROUTINE FIRE DRILLS

A friend calls to ask you to go to the soccer game. It sounds great until you remember that you have a huge math exam the next day. Biting your tongue, you turn your friend down so you can spend an exciting evening at home, all alone, studying.

The next day as you walk nervously into your class your stomach drops. This test means a lot to your grade. When the teacher finishes passing the test out, your worst nightmare comes true, you have forgotten everything. Just then the bell rings continuously, it is a fire drill. This gives you just enough time to catch your breath and relax.

By state law, schools must have at least fifteen unannounced fire drills per school year. During these drills, teachers must stay with their classes and must have grade book in hand. All students need to be accounted for. These drills usually last about two minutes. Sometimes exits are blocked to see if students would react the correct way under such circumstances.

Fire drills give students a few extra minutes that everyone enjoys as an escape from the pressures of a common day of school. During these drills, people may chat with their friends, review notes for a test, or finish that last minute homework. Maybe you could even talk your teacher out of the test or get that special someone's attention. These could be the crucial moments of a wonderful relationship waiting to happen.

Then the bell rings to go back to class. It is time to take your math exam. Don't worry you'll do fine now that you have had a chance to look over your notes and talk with friends to relax you. By the way you aced the test. The studying with a little extra help from the fire drill really payed off.

AN ALTERNATIVE LOOK

New in the line of music and fashion is Alternative. It is a total fad of clothing and outrageous music. The style is not for everyone. Only certain people have the guts to wear the style of Alternative.

The music is very similar to rock yet it is very different. The sound can range from extremely mellow to hard "grunge" music. Many bands have arisen from this new style. There even is a radio station, named the Point, devoted to all alternative music. Various bands are played on this station. Some are grungy, like Pearl Jam, Nirvana, and Stone Temple Pilots. Others are softer sounds, like Tori Amos or Frente!

The clothing associated with it is also very unique. Fannel plaid shirts, combat boots, hair in pony tails, and shaved heads are all associated with the Alternative style. Worn out clothing of the seventies, such as bell bottoms, can also be dubbed as that style. It's almost the recreation of another generation the teens of today want to call their own style.

The alternative clothing look may not encourage every teenager to run out and purchase this latest fad. Magazines dazzle teen's eyes with bizarre and expensive collections of this clothing to wear. As a result, many retail stores are tallying up the money from sales of this strange apparel.

Will it last until next year? Will you look grungy when you are a senior or will an 'alternative' style take its place? No one knows yet.

A TREASURED REMEMBRANCE

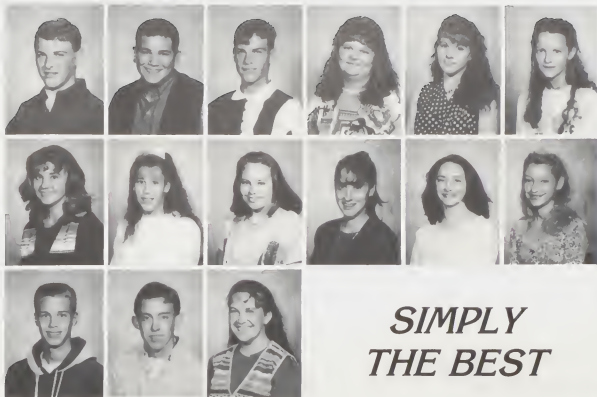

One of the most memorable times of your sophomore year is when you order your class ring. The school ring you order is a remembrance of your days at GCHS. It is a classic piece of jewelry that will always remind you of the happy, fun-filled four years you spent at high school.

Ordering your ring is not always that easy. Unlike before, now there are dozens of styles from which to choose and scores of color variations. There is enough of a variety to leave you confused and wondering what you really want.

There are some students, however, who never seem to get around to selecting and purchasing a ring. The cost may be too high or there may be lack of interest. Class rings are not for everybody, and some consider them a waste of money.

But others feel it is necessary to purchase the treasured remembrance. Some carry on a family tradition and purchase a ring so they could hand it down to their children, while others buy it because of peer pressure.

Whether you choose a red, blue, or yellow stone, or whether it is gold or silver, you will cherish it every moment you look at it and wear it.

LONG BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Long, medium, short, blonde, red, brunette, ribbons, barrettes, headbands. These are words to describe the various hairstyles seen in our halls. With one glance around the halls here at Granite City High, you will probably see many of those styles.

For girls, hair that is all one length seems to be the most popular at this time. It is worn both curly or straight. Ponytails have also become common sight and ribbons seem to be the hair accessory of choice. These ribbons are often plaid, but solid, polka dotted, and striped are also common. No matter what might be worn, a ribbon can always be found to match the outfit. Although long hair seems to be the most common style, short hair, layered cuts, straight and curly are also popular.

The boys of GCHS also have various hairstyles. Longer hair on the top and shaved on the bottom is one of the most popular hair cuts for boys. Bowl hair cuts were common once again this year just like they were for Moe Howard. For those boys who hate to mess with their hair, the crew cut was worn. However, regular short hair was still the most popular. Long hair was also seen around the halls, not quite as common as the others but seen just the same.

Over the years, hair has been used as a statement of the times. In the 70's, most everyone male and female wore their hair long, straight, parted in the middle or in a ponytail. When guys first began wearing their hair long and women began shaving their heads, it was viewed as a sign of protest. Now different styles are a reflection of the person rather than the times.

DREAM ALL DAY

Imagine this: you're on a small deserted island with lush tropical greenery and clear turquoise water. The temperature is warm, but not too humid, and you're sunning yourself on the white sand. You look over at your companion, a tall, tanned model look-alike with dark silky hair and a great body. You smile, look into their eyes, and . . . suddenly you realize the whole class is watching you. Uh oh, you've been daydreaming again.

The teacher looks at you expectantly. She's just asked a question, but you have no idea what she's talking about. You blurt out an answer, "uh, thirty-nine?" Then you realize that this is history class, not algebra. Everyone laughs as you cover your face, embarrassed.

This is a common occurrence among high school students. Teens daydream for many reasons. Maybe they are just not listening to their teacher's lesson, or maybe they are so far behind that they are clueless to what anyone is talking about. Other students are so involved with other things at the time that they simply can't concentrate on learning. Sometimes they don't get enough sleep at home, so they use class time to catch up.

People have many different types of daydreams. They can range from a romantic love scene to devising ways to get even with siblings. Maybe you just let your thoughts wander aimlessly, or your favorite song could be running through your mind.

Whatever you daydream about, and for whatever reasons, try not to let the teacher catch you off guard. You may just end up daydreaming in detention.

FOUR MORE TO GO

Remember your first day of junior high? A new way of life was beginning. More subjects, more teachers to deal with, and more people with whom to make friends. The transition into jr. high is probably the most difficult change in a young person's life, but it is this transition that helps prepare you for the first day of high school.

It begins pretty much like your first day of junior high, but on a much greater scale. As you walk down the hall for the first time you will find that most students are larger than yourself. Classes will be more difficult to find because of the greater size of the building.

Once in a class you may become overwhelmed by the incredible amount of lecturing and homework assigned by your teacher. When the dismissal bell rings, it is as though an enormous weight has been lifted. You feel on top of everything until you realize that in another seven minutes you'll have to relive it all again.

Lunch is another part of the transition. The food hasn't quite changed, it's just that there is more of it to go around. After you stand in line for ten minutes, the task of finding a place to sit begins. Usually, you will find an old friend of yours to join, but there are times when you know nobody in the cafeteria.

Nevertheless, it can be said that the high school cafeteria can be a great place to meet people. The entire school, in fact, is a wonderful place to make friends. Despite the downs of classes, outside activities like football or soccer games are the more exciting parts of school.

Senior high school can be a most difficult change in your life, but don't be discouraged. It can also be four of the best years of your life. Make the best of your high school life because it will be over before you know it.

MY SPARE TIME

What do you do in your spare time? Are you an active person who or do like to sit quietly and read a book? Everyone likes to do something to make time go a little faster.

There are many people who love to collect common items such as stamps, coins, or baseball cards. Some people, however, collect unique items. Faustino Asprilla of the Columbian soccer team collects faucets.

Escaping into a good book can be a favorite past time. Action and adventure novels are always popular, and the romance section of the library is always a frequented shelf. Magazines such as "Sports Illustrated" or "Cosmopolitan" are some of the more popular periodicals among students.

Of course, the most favorite way for GCHS students to pass the time is to do their assigned homework. It gives them a feeling of accomplishment as they face the next day at school.

THAT'S WHAT FRIENDS ARE FOR

High school is a time of confusion, learning, and changing, especially for a freshman. There are so many changes in your life, and it is nice to know you can always count on your best friend. Your best friend has listened and supported you every time you asked and even when you did not ask.

There are certain qualities that everyone looks for in a best friend. Phillip Hickam said that his best friend is "Amanda Corey, because she always sticks up for me at lunch." Laura Nicol appreciates Traci Mahls because "she's fun to be around, she is trustworthy, and loyal, and funny." Amy Miller said that Melissa Skinner is her best friend because, "she makes me laugh and she is a good listener."

He or she is the one person who you share your thoughts and dreams with. This is the one person who knows more about you than anyone else. They are the type of people who can complete your own thought. He or she influences you more than anyone.

Every big or small decision you have ever made, this person helps make, starting with what to wear to the football game to what college you will go to. The bond between you and your best friend is so strong that no one, not even a boyfriend, can break. They have been with you through every final exam, every boyfriend (or girlfriend) and every Homecoming. Four years of high school can go by very quickly, but your friendship will not. No matter where the two of you end up, your friendship will stay in your heart the rest of your life.

OUT WITH THE OLD - IN WITH THE NEW

These are the times to remember. We were all once freshmen in this school building, some of our older brothers and sisters were graduates of this school. Some of our grandparents and parents were graduates of GCHS.

From 1973 to 1983, there were two Granite City High Schools, a North and a South. What is now Belleville Area College was GCHS North. The school building you enter everyday was GCHS South. In 1983 the two schools united and became one, Granite City Senior High School.

Now in the year 1994, the school district is making plans to remodel the building. This school has been through many great changes for our grandparents, parents, brothers and sisters. Hopefully there will be many new changes for us and for our future children.

Some freshmen students were asked what they would like added or changed. Kara Coleman would like "Air conditioning, because it gets to hot." Kristy Young stated, "A closed walkway to the cafeteria."

Take a look around the old school because in April of 1995 renovation is going to begin. The students thank the many faithful voters who passed the school bond issue. Now they're waiting to see what changes have been made when they begin school in September.

LET IT SNOW

Winter, the coldest and worst part of school, except when you have snow days. You sit in front of the television to what seems to be the entire night, waiting, hoping to see Granite City High School on the list of schools that will be closed the next day. FINALLY, Granite City High School appears on the screen. Instead of going to bed at a "reasonable" hour, you have the rest of the night to stay up late, watch television, or a movie, or whatever you want.

The next morning you wake up to the sound of something other than your annoying alarm clock. The day is yours! You can do anything you want. You can go sledding with your friends or sleep all day. You may even want to have snowball fights. Then, after freezing your toes off, you can go inside and enjoy a nice cup of hot chocolate.

Today you do not have to sit through hour after hour of school. All of the homework you did not do, the tests you "forgot" to study for and the reading assignment has been postponed for one more day. One less day in the week means one less day of the week.

Just as you are putting your coat and gloves back on, getting ready to freeze again, the phone rings. It is your neighbor down the street. She wants to pay you to shovel her tiny driveway. It should take you about thirty minutes. How much better could this day get? As soon as you finish the driveway, snow starts to fall in your eyes. If the snow keeps falling at this rate, there is no way you will be able to go to school tomorrow. Even better, you will have to shovel your neighbor's driveway tomorrow too.

Two days later you find yourself sitting behind a desk trying to stay awake, wishing it would snow once again. When the bell rings ending your class, you realize that you only have one more week until Christmas vacation. Maybe it will snow.

LEND ME AN EAR

A new program was started last year to help students. This program is called PLUS, Positive Learning with US. It is aimed at improving students academic success and overall high school experience. PLUS helps freshmen students who are having trouble with the transition between junior high school and senior high school raise their self-esteem. Also this program helps to change their attitudes towards school, and motivate them into becoming productive and positive leaders at the high school.

The freshmen in the PLUS program are put with other freshmen to build friendships with others who have the same interests. Because of making friends who have positive influences, these students are more willing to be generous. This year they all donated money towards buying gifts for the less fortunate.

Linda Green, Terry Papa, Cindy Gagich, Ruth Layton, Carla Finkes, and Linda Hill are involved with this program. These dedicated teachers help the students improve their studying habits, communication, organization, and listening skills, and help the students with their social interaction. These teachers accomplish all of this by giving the support and encouragement these students need.

PURSUIT OF PERFECTION

So much has been written in the yearbooks about Mr. David Painter during the five years he has been principal of Granite City High School. He has been called a "leader," he's been "at the helm," and he's held "the best job in the world."

At the close of this year, he will celebrate six years of excellence, years that brought teachers and students together for the purpose of educating our young people in the best way possible. He is intelligent, sensitive, and understanding, and most importantly, he is a dynamic leader. He knows hundreds of students by their first name. He is quick to praise students or teachers for an innovative idea or an outstanding achievement.

Mr. Painter has helped improve communication in the high school and has brought positive change in students' behavior and attitude. He has united the student body to make GCHS one of the best schools in the state of Illinois.

He has helped the students understand that teachers are the foundation of their education and has made students aware that the future must be faced by well-prepared individuals. He has told students to strive to be their best. He emphasizes the understanding of a strong education and good values. With this, he says, the young generation will be the dynamic leaders of the future.

Mr. Painter now faces his future. He will embark on a new adventure in his life . . . retirement. Although he will go his separate way and leave, we will always remember the treasured moments he spent with us at GCHS. His standards of excellence have become the goals that we, teachers and students, strive to reach each day.

Thank you Mr. Painter for bringing this school into the twenty-first century. You may not be sitting behind the big desk at GCHS, but will always be with us in thoughts and happy memories. Goodbye.

GOOD-BYE AND

The quality of a school can be based on the faculty's ability to teach and influence the students. The quality of GCHS is very high due to the outstanding teachers. Many have masters degrees who contribute years of experience to our school. In 1995 many great teachers are leaving us. After a combined 300 plus glorious years at Granite City schools, they are happily choosing to say goodbye.

These teachers will now have time to fulfill all of the dreams they have had. Instead of waking up early and staying up late grading tests or preparing lesson plans, they can sleep late and have the rest of the day free.

The school will be losing many years of experience from these teachers. These teachers, will, however, be able to pass on the knowledge they have learned over the years to the many new teachers hired this year who will continue in their footsteps.

In 1995 we are losing a most important individual here at G.C.H.S. Mr. David Painter, principal for four years, will be leaving after having served as both teacher and administrator. Throughout his four years as principal, which included the passing of the bond issue to renovate the high school, Mr. Painter has had a firm hand on the course of GCHS. He will be sorely missed.

This year's retirees from the Social Studies department include department head Philip Shatto, as well as Eugene Smallman, Harry Cook and Stanley Kowalewich. The retiring teacher from the Industrial Education department is J. Allen Spencer. Mr. Spencer is also a co-op supervisor.

Department head Bette Dumont and Glen Hubbard are both retiring from the Business department. From the Math department, Arthur Eardley will be turning off computers at GCHS for the last time.

Leonard Lybarger is retiring from the Health department. James Harsh is retiring from the Science department. From the English department, both Donna McCormick and Shirley Stroud will be turning in grade books for the last time in June.

"Twenty-nine years times ten classes per year times thirty students per class equals nine thousand students that have given me these gray hairs. Up/down good/not so good. Mostly good. Then add the years of coaching. . . Life has been mostly good. I am sure I have affected many students as they have me. Best wishes to all the GCHS students and my fellow teachers."—JAMES HARSH

"As I approach my retirement, I feel like a bird preparing to fly off on a new flight plan. Although I do not know what the path ahead looks like, I know the scenery will be beautiful. Since I have led the structured life of a school teacher for the past thirty years, I am actually looking forward to letting the wind carry me where it can, serve the community through volunteer work, and see as much of the world as I can. Retirement looks like blue skies up ahead, but I also will never forget my happy years as a teacher in Granite City."—DONNA MCCORMICK

"After 30 years on the job what can you say! However, a few thoughts come to mind. One is a quote from a gospel song: 'Free at last free at last! Thank God Almighty, I am free at last.' This quote is also on the tombstone of Dr. Martin Luther King. I hope this does not serve as a bad omen.

Second, are a few words of thanks to students past and present who may have taught me more than I taught them about the human experience. To my fellow teachers, administrators, and Board of Education; also past and present, who allowed me to express and develop any creativity that I may possess in doing this very difficult and demanding job—thank you.

Third, to the community of Granite City and all of those who have been part of my life in this career — thanks for the memories!!"—STANLEY KOWALEWICH

"My retirement plans are fun and educational. Immediately after school is over for the summer, my travels through northwestern Europe will provide, geography, history, art, culture, and foreign languages; it certainly will be fun. Other more permanent plans are still in the half-hatched stage. My best to you all!"—SHIRLEY STROUD

"It has been my pleasure to serve as a business education instructor, office occupations co-op coordinator, and department chairman for the students at GCHS. There have been many changes in the business curriculum such as beginning my early years of teaching on an electric typewriter, progressing to an electronic typewriter, and now, the computer. It has been a wonderful experience, and I enjoy visiting with former students who are now employed and using skills they acquired in the Business department. I value the many friendships I have formed among the staff and students. They will be missed, and this will be the greatest detriment to leaving a very enjoyable career."—BETTE DUMONT

"It was April, 1963, when I came to Granite City Senior High School for an employment interview. Way back then, the teacher interviews were done by the building principal, the assistant principal, and the department head.

I was amazed by the size of the school (over 2300 students and no 9th graders), one-way halls, five minutes between classes, girls not allowed to wear slacks, and the friendliness of the staff.

I reported to the office for my interview with Mr. McCauley, the principal, and was mistaken by the secretary for a student. As usual, Mr. McCauley was out of his office, but returned just after the tardy bell sounded.

I never dreamed when I was offered a contract, that I would like this BIG SCHOOL so much that I would end up staying 30 years. It just hasn't been that long—can it really be true?—I'm not THAT old—it wasn't that long ago that I stood in the auditorium door during a lunch/study period and chatted with Mr. McCauley (he often stopped to talk with teachers, even visiting the teacher lounges).

In general, it has been fun, challenging, and certainly much different now than it was in the 60's, but never boring."—ARTHUR EARDLEY

Mr. J. ALLEN SPENCER had no comments in regard to his future plans after retirement.

"Spend more time with my three children (ages 12, 11, and 7), continue travelling, and catch the largest bass in Illinois history."—EUGENE SMALLMAN

"I don't know what I am going to do after I retire. I am keeping my options open."—HARRY COOK

"Teaching is one of the most rewarding professions a person may choose. The opportunity to interest students in history and world affairs gave me the spark needed to face my classes each day. There is no time to be bored in this occupation, every class is a new experience, even when you are teaching the same lesson.

The greatest satisfaction is when a student finds your class interesting and lets you know it. After graduation, it is fun to follow the careers of your former students and carry on a correspondence that leads to a life long friendship. My students have become world travelers, history professors, teachers, performers on TV and in movies and one is an opera star. I will promise to follow their careers even in retirement.

A teacher has the most important job in the world, without them we would all be incapable of functioning in the demanding times we live in.

After retirement I plan to travel, visiting many of the places in the world that I have been teaching about in my classes. If the right opportunity presents itself, I might return to teaching on the college level."—PHILIP SHATTO

BUSY ALL THE TIME

Besides teaching, the teachers and administrators at GCHS have other important roles to play. They are friends, advisors, and counselors. Several teacher coach sports or sponsor clubs at the high school. Some attend sporting events and banquets, chaperone dances, have hall duty, and attend music performances. The list is never ending.

Some of the more athletic teachers participate in the annual Varsity Club vs. Faculty Game. The Varsity Club members challenge the faculty to a basketball or volleyball game. This is a chance for the teachers to take revenge and prove that they are the best.

The teachers and administrators take time out of their busy schedules to attend events of all kind. Music performances, sports events, plays, and athletic banquets are just a few. The students always appreciate seeing their teachers in attendance.

Chaperoning dances such as Prom and Homecoming are other popular events teachers volunteer to do. They oversee the students to make sure that nothing goes wrong. Hall duty is another common job that many teachers have. They watch over the halls of GCHS to make sure that all students have a hall pass and are not skipping out of their classes.

Coaches spend much time mentally and physically preparing the athletes for the upcoming games. Along with practices, coaches devise new ways to defeat opposing teams. Club sponsors devote endless hours organizing meetings, fund raisers, and field trips.

Even though the administration and faculty dedicate much of their time to school events, you will never hear them complaining. They're glad to be there to see the talented students of GCHS.

YOU CAN QUOTE ME ON IT

Every teacher has their own style; a certain way that they do things. This can include just about anything: teaching tactics, gimmicks, or quirky habits that may stand out in a student's mind. Among the most interesting of these is a teacher's habit of repeating a certain word or phrase, one that becomes familiar with the students because of its frequent use. Sometimes these phrases are clever, funny, or unbelievably tiresome. In any case, students become attached to these unique sayings they hear over, and over, and over. Listed below are several phrases teachers use to help them get their point across to their students. Do any sound familiar to you?

"Alrighty then." -Laura Aerne

"... a message from the management" -David Ames
 "No, I lied." -Laura Chappell
 "Verdad?" -Dennis Church
 "I'll light the candles for you people tonight." -Harry Cook
 "If you take the time to study a little each night, it'll pay off in the long run." -Robert Cowan
 "Is this a long story?" -Gregory Garland
 "I'm a new teacher, I only do what I'm told." -Deborah Germann
 "Dumber than Mr. Peabody." -James Harsh
 "It's been a really bad day, guys." -Amy Heath
 "Both positive, both negative ... he says both negative." -Betty Hicks
 "That's a 'T' for Tardy." -Ruth Layton
 "It's good enough for this class." -Allen Lobdell

"Are you ready to do some math, guys? Swell!" -Thomas Lubak
 "Honorbound students!" -Donna McCormick
 "It's my turn now" -Paul Mihalich
 "Gang, address the target!" -Terry Papa
 "Duh" -Diane Peach
 "Get your protoplasm up here!" -Thomas Pinnell
 "... and I say to myself, Self ..." -Thelma Randall
 "... and so forth" -Andrew Yurko

These are just a few of the many different idiosyncrasies said by every teacher at our school. They are the sayings that make the teachers at G.C.H.S. unique and give the students one reason to look forward to class everyday.

SWEETHEARTS OF THE SCHOOL

Many students look forward to receiving a new schedule at the start of each semester. In addition to learning what hour you have certain classes, you learn what teachers you will have. If you are not familiar with the teachers here at GCHS, it is possible to think the unthinkable-computer error. It is possible to have a schedule with two Randalls, two Lignouls, and two Ames. You will also hear references to Mr. Yurko and Mrs. Yurko. Totally confusing!!

GCHS has four husband and wife teams. James Randall is an English teacher and his wife Thelma is a mathematics teacher. When asked what she liked about working at the same location as her husband, Mrs. Randall said that they really do not see each other during the day. She felt one positive factor was that work stays at work. Because they work at the same place, it is not necessary to discuss the day's events at home.

Linda and David Ames are unique for a couple of reasons. First, both are coaches of fall sports. This was Mrs. Ames first year as the girl's tennis coach and Mr. Ames is the freshmen soccer coach. Second, they are both in the Social Studies Department. She is a first year Economic teacher and he teaches history. "He's my best friend and it's nice to be able to talk to him throughout the day," were Linda Ames' feelings about working with her husband. David Ames echoed that saying, "It's easy to talk to her any time of the day."

Many students wonder what makes the human mind tick. Andrew Yurko, a psychology teacher and National Honor Society sponsor, sheds light on this subject to many students. His wife, JoAnn, can be seen lending helpful hands to the Special Education Department. JoAnn Yurko felt the best part of working with her husband was sharing a ride to work and having the same holidays.

The last of the couples are Gustave "Gus" and Kimberly Lignoul. Mrs. Lignoul is with the English Department and Mr. Lignoul is the head of the Vocational Department. Kimberly Lignoul said, "Although we rarely see each other at school, it is nice to have someone to ride with to and from school." Mr. Lignoul said, "It's convenient. If anything occurs, I can just go and talk to her. But the school is so big that we hardly see each other. We don't have lunch together so it's not really like working together." He also felt it was nice having the same holidays.

We are quite lucky to have these four couples as members of the staff at GCHS. Some advice to any student that hears the names Randall, Ames, Yurko or Lignoul - always ask, "Which one?"

SENORA DEBORAH LARSEN

"¡Hola! ¿Como estás?" is just one of the familiar phrases that you will hear from Mrs. Deborah Larsen. In case you are wondering what the Spanish phrase means, it says "Hello! How are you?"

Mrs. Larsen is one of three Spanish teachers here at GCHS. She holds an important job of educating the students about the Spanish language and culture. With so much intolerance in the world today, Mrs. Larsen helps students understand and accept other cultures. She makes them seem realistic and not so foreign.

Mrs. Larsen has been teaching Spanish for eighteen years with eight of those years spent here at GCHS. Her first year of teaching was at Prather. She moved around to other schools in central and northern Illinois. In 1988 she moved back to Granite City happy to be back teaching at GCHS.

She obtained her bachelor's degree from Eastern Illinois University and her master's degree from Northern Illinois University. Her major was education with a foreign language emphasis. She also took many classes at Western Illinois, Southern Illinois, and the University of Wisconsin. She commented about her college experience, "I like to spread myself around." Besides college, Mrs. Larsen gained much of her knowledge about the Spanish culture from her many trips to Spain and Mexico. She also studied for a summer semester at the University of Madrid in Spain. Besides travelling around Spain, she has been to the Yucatan, Mexico City, and the Acapulco area. She has also taken many field trips in which she allows the students to experience the Spanish culture first hand.

As far as hobbies, Mrs. Larsen enjoys reading, traveling, sports, and crafting. Her specialty is building miniature dollhouses and furnishing them. Her husband and two sons, Mark and Matt, also take up a great deal of her time. Her husband is a math teacher and basketball coach at Triad. They are all the "loves of her life."

Her love for teaching comes from her "love for the language and to try to help young people see other parts of the world through another person's eyes." She stated, "I'm a teacher by day, a taxi by night and a farmer on the weekends."

WORK, WORK, WORK

Many students do not realize the work load of the secretarial staff at this high school. For anyone spending any time in the office, it is apparent that many things go on simultaneously. The switchboard is ringing, letters are written, money deposits are verified, and students are signed in to school. The jobs are continuous and almost endless, but none of the ladies complain. They enjoy their work and most of them agree that there is never a dull moment.

From the time they arrive at school early in the morning until they leave at 4 p.m., their day is never routine. Each day brings new problems and challenges. They do their work, but still have enough time to answer daily questions from students and teachers. They are an endless supply of information and wisdom . . . they are the GCHS secretaries.

LUNCH LADY LAND

Everyone's parents have, at times, been at a loss at what to fix for dinner. Everyone in the house wants something different. Imagine the problems the cafeteria workers face each day when they must prepare a lunch for approximately 2400 people. Lunch is not the only meal they prepare for the student body. They prepare breakfast as well.

We are all familiar with the ladies that serve us our meals. However, there is a great deal of behind-the-scenes action. Each of the cafeteria ladies have specific jobs. It is the responsibility of just one lady to make the fries devoured by many of us each day.

Then there are the ladies who stand behind the counter and serve us the food we request and those that take the trays and make sure the dishes are washed and clean. And what about all the money we hand them each day? These ladies are able to take money and give change faster than anyone else in town. The woman in charge of all these duties is Lee Wilson. She oversees all the work and makes sure everything is running smoothly.

Their job is not over at the end of 5-2. They clean all the messes left by the lunch crowd and then begin preparing for the next day. There is much more to running the cafeteria than meets the eye. Fortunately for the teachers and students at GCHS, our wonderful crew of ladies take on the tasks with ease and a smile. Thank you for the countless meals prepared for everyone.

MEN AT WORK

You probably take them for granted, but the custodians at GCHS are a very important part of the school. Without the necessary services they provide, our school would literally fall apart.

During the school day, custodians roam around the campus, straightening things up as they go. You may not know that the custodians do not rush home at 3:07 like we do. For many their work day has just begun. These custodians work night and day to make sure everything runs smoothly. Also, while the students are enjoying a weekend, holiday, or even summer vacation, these dedicated workers do their best to clean the entire building. They make sure it is in good shape for the students when they return to school.

They clean the classrooms, halls, and the entire campus to prepare for the next day's crowd. Sometimes it can be a difficult task to clean up after untidy teenagers. Their job also includes making small repairs as needed for keeping this school in proper order.

Walter Volkmar is the lead man. His job is to make sure the custodians working in the halls, cafeteria, and gymnasium all do their jobs to the best of their abilities.

The custodians work hard to keep GCHS in good condition. Because of them, students continue to enjoy a healthy environment in which to learn. Everyone thanks them for their endless job and dedicated service.

FAMOUS FACES

A monitor is the first person you contact if you should ever get into trouble or need any type of assistance. The hall monitors play a very important role in the school system and should never be taken for granted.

They have a very important role in maintaining good school discipline. They help in preventing students from smoking, fighting, or breaking any of the school rules. They also assist visitors to the school by directing them to their destination.

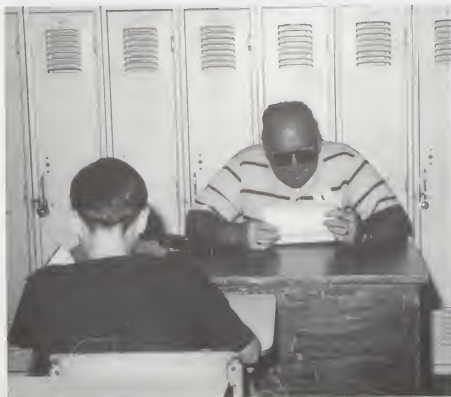

Each monitor is responsible for a specific section of the campus. Because of this responsibility and the vast size of the school, it is necessary for them to carry walkie-talkies. This helps everyone keep better informed to campus activity, and also helps locate students.

The adults in charge of this security are Cliff Gassett, Beverly Golden, Don Gray, Ginny Henson, Kathy House, and Connie Paterson. Ginny is usually in the cafeteria. Connie handles the area on Grand Avenue. Kathy is located in the back parking lot. Cliff helps in the big study hall. Don is responsible for the front parking lot. Beverly is in the front of the school.

Because of these dedicated monitors, our school is able to function at a smoother pace. Their days are strenuous and long, standing in cold, rainy, or hot weather, but they play a very important role at this school. The faculty members and everyone else thank them for their presence and their continuous effort to maintain good discipline.

THE SPECIAL STAFF

The aides of Granite City High School bring a presence of an easier day to those special students in need of a little more help. Although uncommon to those who are not being helped by the aides, those who require their help appreciate it dearly.

Their task for each day varies from assisting students in the classroom with their work, walking with them through the halls, helping them on and off the buses, and by working the lifts to allow access to the rooms on the second floor.

The aides do whatever it takes to complete the day with as little hassle as possible. Many students do not realize the time and hours put in by these special people. Most of the aides agree that sometimes the days are challenging, but are very rewarding. They enjoy being with these students and consider themselves fortunate to be able to give assistance when needed.

Also, these special staff members of GCHS hardly ever complain and always try to keep a strong relationship between their students and themselves. The students and faculty members appreciate their efforts and say 'thank you.'

POSITIVES

Adolescents Learning Positive Health Alternatives is a group of junior and senior students. On every Friday for nine weeks they teach the freshmen health classes. Drugs, alcohol, peer pressure, stress, and brainstorming are some of the topics discussed. The first ALPHA class started Friday, September 23, with participation of 35 ALPHA peer leaders and sixteen health classes to be taught.

The upperclassmen act as role models and live a substance free lifestyle. The peer leaders are there to support the students and listen to what they have to say. The students are not just there to be lectured but to have an understanding of what are their best choices. To relieve some tension, the group participates in many different games throughout the nine weeks.

This year the ALPHA peer leaders were represented by a new sponsor, Mrs. LeVerna Corbitt and assisted by Mr. Mike Johnson.

Each year, the new peer leaders travel to Mount Vernon for a retreat. They are trained to teach the nine lessons in the ALPHA handbook. This year's retreat was chaperoned by Mr. Leonard Lybarger and Mr. Timothy Moran.

The ALPHA program is a good learning experience for both the students and the peer leaders. The freshmen learn from their peer leaders and the seniors are always open to suggestions from their students. Everyone agrees that it is a positive learning experience for all who are involved.

A WAY WITH WORDS

The G.C.H.S. debate team consists of America's future lawyers and politicians. Usually the school's most argumentative and opinionated students participate in this half-hour class. This class helps to prepare them for their intersquad or interscholastic competitions.

The debaters participate in tournaments against other schools from across the state. Some of their competitors are Belleville East and Belleville West; Freeport, IL and Rich East, IL. The larger tournaments that the team competes in are the Illinois Speech and Theater Association State Tournament and the I.H.S.A. State Tournament. The debaters participated in hopes of winning the Illinois state title.

Last year, seniors Joanna Webb and Donald Murphy reached the semi-finals of the I.H.S.A. debate tournament. Murphy later advanced to the finals and won the Illinois state championship. The debaters have set an I.H.S.A. record by having 3 out of 10 all-staters for three of the last four years. The team also participates in the Card Debate League which consists of approximately 20 different teams, including five-time national champion Chesterton, Indiana. Granite City has placed first in this league for the past two years.

This year's varsity debaters are Brian McMillan, Jacquelyn Hale, Eric Loftus, Kelly Lasiter, Jason Mathes, and Basil Yurcisin. The debate coach, Mr. Ronald Pennell, who is also a speech teacher at G.C.H.S., is responsible for guiding the team to a victorious past and a promising future. The debate team would like to thank him for sharing his time and knowledge, and helping to make Granite City the area's best in debate.

CARING AND SHARING

A teenager faces many problems and has much pressure during the high school years. Members of Empathy attend meetings to give and receive advice.

The members of Empathy have become a very close and emotional group. They are always there for each other to lend support. Guidance counselor and Empathy sponsor, Mike Johnson, is always ready to listen. Mr. Johnson is assisted by another guidance counselor, LaVerna Corbitt. With both of them eager to listen and help, students always feel they have a place to go if trouble arises.

To meet the requirements of belonging to Empathy, students must keep up their grades, attend school on a regular basis, and stay out of trouble. They must also promise to be drug and alcohol free and respect the privacy of others. Every year students from all four grades go on a retreat. Here students stay for the weekend, work on skills used to help others, and get to know other Empathy members from other schools. The retreat is usually held in Pinckneyville, Illinois, at Camp Salbteska.

This is always a special time for Empathy members because it is a time of sharing and caring. Most members agree that the retreat taught them how to show their feelings to others and how to talk to students from other schools on a more personal basis.

SAVE THE PLANET

This year is the inaugural year for the Environmental Club. This new club consists of students who are dedicated to the improvement of our environment.

The sponsor responsible for this newly established club is guidance counselor Richard Skirball. He is excited and expects this club to make a difference. The officers who assist him are President Jennie Trower, Vice President Melissa Schwaller, Secretary Amanda Solomon, and Treasurer Heather Stratman.

The club has planned a busy schedule this year. The project of paper recycling was a success last year and this year. All of the classrooms will have red recycling bins next to the trash cans. The paper collected will be recycled with a cash bonus. For each pound of paper the Environmental Club gives to be recycled, it receives one cent. This money will go towards books, computers, and other school materials.

Mr. Skirball and the members hope they will help students realize the importance of saving the environment and begin to recycle paper products in the containers provided.

FOREIGN FOCUS

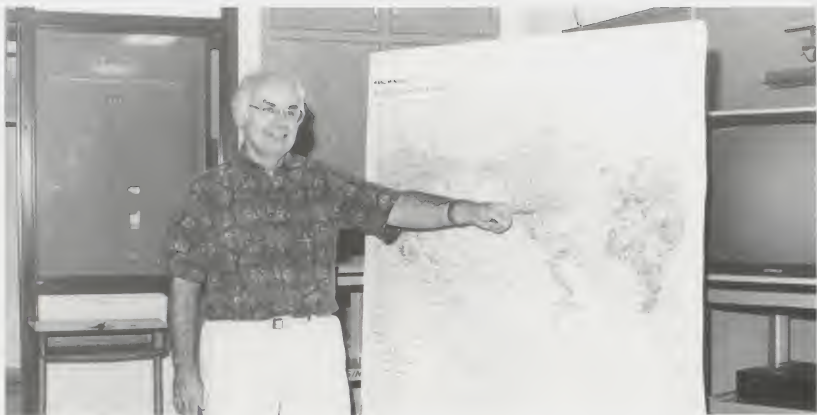

Some of the many classes available at GCHS are the foreign language classes. Spanish and German are the two languages offered at this school. Many of the students in these classes join the Foreign Language Club. It gives them the opportunity to learn about foreign cultures and customs.

The club's planned activities this year were to sell Christmas decorations and gifts and candy. They also promoted foreign language week, and intend to purchase a VCR with some of the profits from the fundraisers.

Mr. Dennis Church is the sponsor of the club. He always enjoys working with the students to help them understand the art of good communication. He teaches them how to communicate through another person's language.

The officers who help Mr. Church are Beth Peery, president; Christina Friedel, vice president; Roy Badgett, secretary; and Jennifer Jakich, treasurer.

This year Mr. Church received an award from the office of the Lieutenant Governor for his contribution to foreign language learning. He was one of twelve winners to receive this award which was given to him in October in Rockford, Illinois.

WELCOME TO CLUB SHATTO

The Social Studies/Foreign Policy Club is an organization that focuses on the processes of our government as well as that of other countries around the world. The club often brings guest speakers, such as G.C.H.S. graduate Shannon Glasgow, to talk to the members. Shannon speaks of his new life in his new home in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia. Aside from this, the Foreign Policy Club operates fundraisers and runs a Trivia Night Contest.

With the profits earned from their fundraising, educational field trips are taken, usually during the Easter holiday. Some of the members went to Paris, France this year.

The officers of the club are President Jason Mathes, Vice President Todd Williams, Secretary Summer Kosuge, and Treasurer David Lange. Mr. Philip Shatto is the club's sponsor and fearless leader.

This year, Mr. Shatto retired and completed his twenty-seventh and final year as the club sponsor. Mr. Shatto organized the club in 1967 in hopes of getting students interested in the operation of the United States government, as well as the governments of foreign countries.

He has accomplished this by doing such things as organizing a mock political convention every four years just before the presidential election. His goal in running the convention is "to try and involve the entire school with participating in the convention and try to interest them in politics."

Another educating tool that Mr. Shatto likes to use is the field trip to historic sites in places such as New Orleans, Florida, Hawaii, Venezuela, and Washington D.C. The club has used travel to educate its members every year since the first trip to Kansas City in 1971.

Mr. Shatto's influence on his students can be displayed with the results of his teaching on former students. Many of his students have succeeded in a career in government or in some way have become involved in life outside of our country. The president of the original club, Lisa Freedman, became a doctor in Israel; 1972 graduate Dennis Orsey is now the Illinois State Assistant to the Attorney General; Shannon Glasgow majored in international relations and now works for the Saudi Arabian government; and Steve Kusmierczek currently works for the Polish government in Warsaw.

Mr. Shatto has had a tremendous impact on his students and on the entire school. He will be missed by his students as much, if not more, than he will miss teaching. The one thing he will miss more than sponsoring the club is taking the educational trips. "I love giving students the opportunity to travel and to see things they may never see on their own." The Foreign Policy Club would like to thank you, Mr. Shatto, for giving your students the opportunity to learn more about our country as well as the rest of the world.

THE FUTURE IS OURS

The FUTURE NURSES CLUB is open to students who are interested in nursing or related medical professions. In this club, teenagers learn how to perform basic life saving techniques that can help them in the future.

The sponsors of the club are Mary Karoly and Betty Stone. They help those interested learn more about nursing and medicine. Club members listen to guest speakers who are involved with nursing. Also, they raise money by selling candy and Homecoming buttons in order to go on a field trip each semester. Any student who wants a job with medicine or nursing would benefit from the Future Nurses Club.

The FUTURE SECRETARIES ASSOCIATION is a club of students that are preparing to enter the secretarial field after graduating from high school. This organization is not just about typing, answering the phone, and taking dictation, but also being successful in the business world. For this success, they have to have knowledge of the career they are pursuing and all members are required to complete three semesters of business courses.

Although they only have one meeting a month, their meetings are very professional and helpful. Speakers from different types of businesses attend these meetings. The speakers help prepare the members for interviews, future job situations, and self-defense techniques.

Continuing to sponsor the Future Secretaries Association, is Linda Haddox and Georganne Georgeff. To help the sponsors are President Anna Green, Vice President Selena Turnbough, Secretary Sabrina Plumb, Treasurer Stacey Davenport, and Historian Leslie Ragsdale.

FUTURE EDUCATORS

This year G.C.H.S. has installed a brand new club for those students considering a career as a teacher. This club, called Future Educators of America, consists of students who are enthusiastic about learning the ropes and getting the inside view of what it is like to be employed as an educator.

The co-sponsors of this new group are English department head Mrs. Mary Dame and band director Mr. Norbert Tate. The elected officers for 1995 are President Robert Taylor, Vice-President Steven Sinde, Secretary Gregory Hoenig, and Treasurer Keri Cahill. Together, the officers and the sponsors help lead monthly meetings of those wishing to become a teacher, principal, and/or a guidance counselor.

At these monthly meetings, students in the club receive hands-on training designed to help them as a teacher. Workshops and specially designed speeches are also devices that are utilized. Hopefully, with all these tools, the members will attain many new skills and develop a strong understanding of what it is like to be an educator.

This new club has had good support from their national sponsor, the Gateway East Chapter of Pi Delta Kappa. This chapter has worked hard to try to establish Future Educator clubs throughout the United States. Their main goal is to make a strong program that will help other schools build similar clubs and give students the same opportunities.

We hope that this newly formed club is very successful in the upcoming years. The goal and the skills that are being taught to those members will be extremely helpful to them in the future.

READ ALL ABOUT IT

"EXTRA EXTRA!" has been the cry of paperboys for many years. GCHS is fortunate enough to have a paper of its very own. Our newspaper, The High World, has been in existence for sixty-eight years. That makes it one of the oldest public school newspapers in the area. The paper contains sport stories, movie and music reviews, horoscopes, news, and letters to the editor.

The High World staff is composed of beginning and advanced journalism students. Beginning students gain experience by working on the Cub Edition so they can eventually be on the High World staff. The advanced journalism students are completely responsible for each issue of the paper. They serve as the editors, reporters, photographers, and graphic artists. Students in the print shop classes also assist the paper by converting the photography into usable half tones.

Each year roughly nine thousand copies of the High World are published. The newspapers are sold to students during first hour for a quarter. Besides being distributed to students, the paper is also distributed to faculty, administrative and support personnel, local elementary schools, and advertisers. Aside from the regular issues, a special Senior Edition is sold at the end of the year.

The beginning and advanced journalism classes, that produce the High World, are both credit courses that encompass a wide variety of skills. The students learn historical and up-to-date techniques, computer aided publishing, and managerial skills while also selling and producing advertising and working with administrative and community leaders.

The High World is sponsored by Mr. Antonio Betancourt. The Editor-in-Chief of this year's paper is Colleen Fritzsche. She had this to say about her year as Editor, "High World is fun and I feel like I have accomplished a lot when I complete my stories. The staff is great."

THE COOL CLUB

The Hockey Club at GCBS consists of players, cheerleaders, and dedicated fans. The 1994-95 school year is the fourth year for the club, with Donna Lobdell as the sponsor. This is Ms. Lobdell's first year as a teacher here, and also her first year as the sponsor of the Hockey Club.

Even though the weather is usually cold, the supportive fans always come out to brighten things up. These loyal fans love to watch the fast paced, exciting game of hockey. Win or lose, the fans can always count on an entertaining game.

When asked what they think the outlook of this season will be some players, cheerleading, and fans commented: "If we play as a team, I think we'll have a good winning season." ---Matt Wilson

"It should be fun to cheer this year because we're hoping to have a winning season." ---Danielle Lehne

"Since we're in a more appropriate division, I think our team will be good." ---David Miskelley
 "I like to go to hockey games because I know we have a good team this year." ---Rachel Boone

The hockey players are coached by David Yurkovich and Will Connolly. The cheerleading sponsor is Shirley Valencia. These individuals work long hours to help the players perfect the game and the cheerleaders become some of the best in the area. It takes the cooperation of everyone to have a successful and winning season.

It also takes the combination of good students and active participants to make the hockey club a success. The club hopes to have many more successful years in the future. Goodbye to the graduating members. They thank the fans for all their support.

SCHOLARSHIP & SERVICE

The National Honor Society is a special group of ambitious seniors. The students who are involved in this organization must maintain high standards of scholarship, leadership, service and character.

In order to be considered for the National Honor Society, one must keep up a 4.25 grade point average and be willing to participate in school and community projects.

Throughout the year, N.H.S. members spend many hours contributing much of their free time to numerous functions. Some of these include collecting money for the American Cancer Society, helping at the D.A.R.E. Festival, and operating the "Haunted Barn" at Relleke's Farm. Although most activities are optional for the members, there are two that are required. Collecting money for the United Way and participating in the junior initiation ceremony are mandatory activities.

This year, the membership of the National Honor Society is one of the largest at more than 60 members. Because of the number of students involved, they have been able to raise and donate more money than any other group to the United Way.

The sponsors for this club are Mary Perdue-Tapp and Andrew Yurko. The officers are Jason Mathes, president, Sabina Kumar, vice-president, Melanie Kosuge, secretary, and Colleen Fritzsche, treasurer.

TWO HIGHLY SKILLED GROUPS

The Photography Club is open to students who show an interest in photography. These students learn proper photography skills which will help them in the future when working with a camera. Sometimes, exceptional pictures taken by the club members are published in the yearbook.

The Photography Club earns money by selling holiday carnations on such special days as Valentines Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas. The money earned goes to buying film and development of pictures or other camera equipment that is needed by the club.

The officers for the 1994-1995 school year are as follows: President Melanie Tapp, Vice-President Sabina Kumar, and Treasurer L. Wayne Myers. The sponsor of the Photography Club is D.P. Spudich.

Quill & Scroll is an honorary club for high school students. The membership of this club is dependent upon two requirements: the student must belong to either the WARRIOR yearbook staff or the HIGH WORLD newspaper staff for at least one semester and maintain a respectable grade point average.

This year, 22 members were initiated on January 30, 1995. Mr. Antonio Betancourt is the Quill & Scroll sponsor and Shane Buckingham received the honor of being president. The other elected officers are Vice-President Colleen Fritzsche and Treasurer Sabina Kumar.

RED HOT PEPPERS

One of the most popular clubs at G.C.H.S. is Red Peppers. The members are responsible for enhancing the spirit at athletic events in school. They also make many contributions to the community.

The club started out the year by raising money for the Phoenix Women's Crisis Center. The center helps abused and battered women recover from their traumatic experiences.

The girls then started choosing their secret pals. Each club member chooses a male or female senior athlete to be their secret pal. Throughout the Homecoming week and other selected weeks, posters and signs are made and small treats are given to the athletes by their Red Pepper secret pal.

New on the Red Peppers scene is Bleacher Mania. This was organized to get spirited crowd participation at our football and basketball games. Red Peppers was also involved with the renovation of the school, and helped raise money for the Animal Protection Association.

This active club is sponsored by Janet Williams. The officers for this 1994-95 club are President Melanie Kosuge, Vice-president Summer Kosuge, Secretary Hillary Ryan, and Treasurer Jessica Nichols.

THE WIZARDS

The Scholar Bowl is composed of students who compete with other schools using their knowledge in history, science, mathematics, fine arts, vocational skills, and sports. To become a member of the team, one must be able to demonstrate their scholastic abilities in an informal question/answer try-out.

The team competes in many dual and triangular meets as well as participating in some of the region's major tournaments. In the Masonic Tournament, they earned a third-place finish.

Last year, the team was extremely successful with an impressive 19 wins, 3 losses. Because of their outstanding finish at Sectionals against Triad, Collinsville, and Belleville East, the team was able to advance to the state tournament. Unfortunately, the Scholar Bowl Team lost in the first round to the experienced Palatine (Fremd) team by 88 points.

The returning members who took part in the state competition were Kelly Lasiter (captain), Colleen Fritzsche, Jason Mathes, Kevin Randall, Wade Brady, Brian McMillan, Richard Spratley, Brenda Fritzsche, and Chad Kleindorfer. This year's Varsity captains were Kelly Lasiter and Jason Mathes.

SAVE THE FUTURE

One of the largest and most active clubs in GCHS is Science Club. Many people join this club because of the growing concern for the environment. They show their concern by building a float with a "Save the Earth" type theme. They also show their involvement with the Illinois Rivers Project.

The most involved members in these activities are the officers. The president is Eric Terrell, the junior vice president is Andrea Malone, and the sophomore vice president is Coleen Woods. The secretary is Christina Friedel, the treasurer is Colleen Fritzsche, and the historian is Tammy Gerlach.

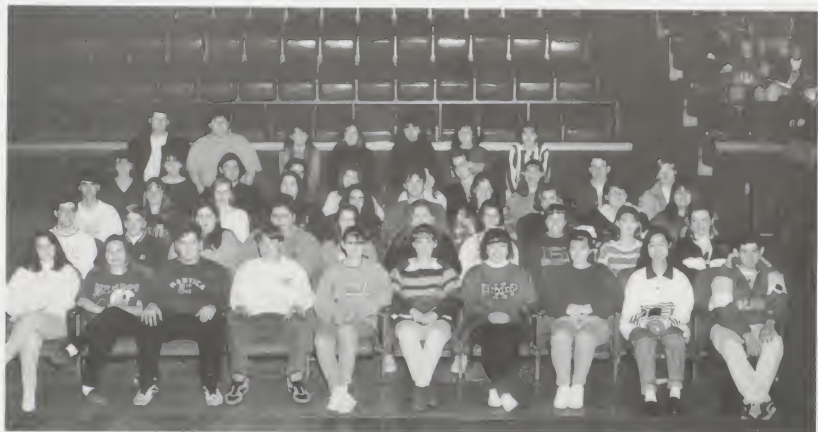

This year Amy Heath is the new sponsor of the Science Club. She has devoted a great deal of time to help make this the best club at GCHS. Without her and the other science teachers' help, the science club would not be able to be as big and able to accomplish as much.

There are many experiences that members enjoy during the year. These include working at the Haunted Barn, selling sausage and cheese and participating at the outdoor classroom. They also go to Alton to watch the endangered eagles in their habitat and go camping at their traditional site of Pere Marquette.

This year a new part of Science Club has been open to junior and senior members. It is the Illinois Rivers Project. In this students go out to the Mississippi River to test the quality of the water. Also several students get to speak at conventions in St. Louis and other cities.

SAY IT LOUD AND CLEAR

Individual Events is composed of many fine actors and actresses. These students are extremely busy from the beginning of year to the end of school. They spend many hours preparing the Homecoming Play, event competition, the Winter Play, and the Spring Musical. Some of the events they prepare for include Dramatic Interpretation, Humorous Interpretation, Dramatic Duet Acting, Humorous Duet Acting, Original Comedy, Verse, Prose, Oratorical Speaking, Declaration, and Impromptu.

Most of the members of I.E. do very well at the competitions and win their category. Mrs. Beverley Scroggins is the sponsor of I.E. and helps the actors and actresses with the three plays. She helps choose who will participate in the play and helps with any problems they might have in their events. Everyone thanks her.

THE CHOSEN ONES

The GCHS student council is involved in several activities throughout the school year. They plan the Homecoming parade and dance. During Homecoming, they decide on the days of the week such as Nerd Day and Country/Western Day. The Prom is also a large event planned by student council.

Besides the Prom and Homecoming festivities, they organize the Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets program. This year a special Fall Dance was organized by student council because the Homecoming dance was such a success. It was held in the cafeteria on November 18.

The council also gets involved in the community with many projects like the Senior Citizens' Prom and the Holiday Harvest at Relleke's Farm. Student of the Month is another project handled by the student council.

The members of student council are elected by the GCHS student body and all grade levels are represented. The qualifications to be put on the ballot are a 3.5 GPA or better, twenty-five student signatures, and three faculty signatures. After getting on the ballot, each student has to wait and see if he or she got elected. The advisor of these selected few is Mr. Steve Hamilton.

The hard work and dedication of the council representatives help make the school year a success for the entire student body. Thank you to student council and their distinguished president Nicholas Novacich.

THE ATHLETIC GROUP

Varsity Club is a group of sophomores, juniors, and seniors who lettered in at least one sport. They started the year off by selling Spirit Ribbons to support our soccer, football, volleyball, and basketball teams. Special Spirit Ribbons were also sold during Homecoming Week.

In October, the club worked at the Holiday Harvest at Relleke's Farm selling refreshments and plastic pumpkins. The Faculty/Student volleyball and basketball games were held in November. The Varsity Club was outplayed by the faculty in both games. The Donkey Basketball Game is also organized by the club.

The sponsor of the club is Tim Moran. He, along with three officers, coordinate all of the activities. The officers who work with him are President Christopher Mitchell, Vice-president Jill Hellrich, and Secretary Penny Kreher. They work together to plan activities for everyone in the school to enjoy.

When the club is not busy with money-making projects, they participate in group activities. They have a gym night where they play basketball, volleyball, and football. It's been very successful and the members enjoy playing the different sports.

In January, Varsity Club has a lock-in at the YMCA, and the end of the year everyone in the club gets together to have a picnic. Last year Mr. Moran, in his favorite "barbeque shirt," cooked hamburgers and hot dogs for everyone. The club members appreciate his effort and thank him once again for sponsoring this active club.

WORKING AND WRITING

V.I.C.A. (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America) is one of the hardest working clubs in our school. Most of the members are able to meet during 5-2. During this time, they are able to organize their activities and plan future projects.

The club officers who help keep everything running smoothly are Ralph Puhse, president; William Laycock, vice president; James Denson, secretary; and Timothy Eugea, assistant treasurer. Their sponsor is Paul Kimbrell.

V.I.C.A. is available to any high school student enrolled in a trade, industrial, technical, or health occupation course. It is a club with a positive attitude toward the future, and the members are all glad to be a part of V.I.C.A.

YOUNG AUTHORS is also a very progressive club. The members are dedicated writers who enjoy composing essays, poetry, short stories, and other writing assignments.

The Young Author's Club, sponsored by Bert Hampton, is a club for students who enjoy writing and drawing. The main activity of the Young Author's Club is the editing and publishing of the "Student Voice".

The "Student Voice" is a publication of stories, essays, and poems written by students of GCHS. Members of this club are also given the opportunity to have their works published in professional publications. This year's senior editor of the club is Christopher Spahn.

KEEPING IN STEP

Being one of the largest organizations in the school, they have to start early and work hard. The GCHS band started their year with a two week band camp in August. Joined by the auxiliary squads, they tried to perfect a field exercise to perform for the upcoming school activities.

The band has many different directions to follow. Becoming a TRI-M officer is only for the few strong and talented members of the band that work hard in keeping the band in step.

Joining the Jazz Band is also an accomplishment and a challenge in itself for those who like performing rock and jazz styles of music.

The Concert and Marching Bands allow musicians to perform and display their musical talent in front of crowds at universities, high school activities, parades, and competitions.

Providing music for the rifle, pom-pom, and flag squads, is also a job that the band, and its Director Norbert Tate, take in stride. Working in correlation with the auxiliaries, the band helps boost the fan participation in school spirit.

Showing spirit and always performing with such class makes the band fun to watch as well as listen to. Playing the school song at football and basketball games, or performing in parades and competitions, they represent our school with pride.

These students work hard and are dedicated to their music, performances and their practices. With this dedication and hard work, the band is once again is one of the most successful groups in the high school. Congratulations for another fine year.

MUSIC TO MY EARS

Everyone loves to sing, but not everyone has the capability to sing well. Students who have a passion for music and have good voices are part of the music group here at GCHS.

There are several different music groups that are offered to students. Girls Glee class consists of all females and is offered as a half hour course. Contando is an advanced class.

The Swing Choir consists of talented young men and women who like to dance, sing, and perform. The choir dresses in a well-coordinated attire when they perform. They work hard and put in many hours of practice after school. The Swing Choir performs for hospitals, nursing homes, schools, and community organizations. Mrs. Mueller accompanies the group to these performances and always puts on a good performance of her own at the piano. The members love what they are doing and it reflects in their performances.

The Advanced Mixed Chorus is a mixture of all four grades. Students involved in this chorus are chosen for their ability to read music, sing in a group, and their vocal ability. Students elect to take this class and enjoy the time spent singing as a talented group.

Each year all the choir classes put on a Christmas concert. This year the concert was dedicated to the composer Jerry Herman. The choirs also performed a spring musical with an all American theme. Both performances were well attended and the choirs once again put on an outstanding musical evening.

The groups also take field trips to various musical events in the St. Louis area. This year they attended the Golden Rod Showboat and saw a musical performance at the Fox Theatre. Mrs. Mueller said "the students are great performers and entertainers, and the community agrees." Everyone thanks Mrs. Mueller for all her effort and dedicated work.

IT'S ALL IN THE GAME

"It's hard to be humble when you can jump, stunt, and tumble."

This is a motto that has been given to the cheerleaders because of their extraordinary talent. These spirited girls devote many hours of their time and put forth much of their effort into backing the Warriors. The cheerleaders work hard to perfect their chants, cheers, and pyramids to be able to perform to the best of their abilities for their team and their fans. They love to be part of the game, cheering on the team and exciting the crowd, and adding school spirit to every event.

To many, it may seem as though cheerleading is easy and there is not much work to be done, but in fact, they practice very hard to make their performances run smoothly and without any mistakes. It takes dedication and perseverance — not to mention guts — to be a cheerleader.

Some of the senior cheerleaders told us what they like about the sport and the reasons they participate. Channa Eichacker says, "I have been a cheerleader since my sophomore year. Ever since I can remember I have wanted to be a cheerleader. I love being part of the games and supporting the Warriors."

Kelly Boone adds, "This is my fourth year cheering. I really like being a cheerleader because it is a fun sport and it helps keep me in shape. I've made a lot of friends being a part of the squad and have tons of great memories, too."

"After I saw what it was like to be a cheerleader from watching Kelly" says Kelly Boone's sister Kathy, "I thought it would be a good idea to try out myself. I've been a cheerleader since my sophomore year. Even though it's a lot of hard work and takes up a lot of time, I really think it's worth it. The games and crowd make everything fun and exciting." Jennie Trower also says, "Being in front of the fans and getting the crowd involved in the games is why I like being a cheerleader. I love being a part of the action and seeing the cheers and stunts we perform work after all our practice."

As you can tell, these enthusiastic girls love what they do and practice hard to make everything perfect. They help make the games more fun and exciting for all.

OLD GLORY GIRLS

There is always a great deal of excitement at sporting events here at GCHS. The Flag Squad helps add to this excitement by performing at a majority of the sporting events. The Flag Squad, sponsored by Patricia Dugard, performs at football, soccer, and basketball games as well as pep rallies, contests, and May Carousel.

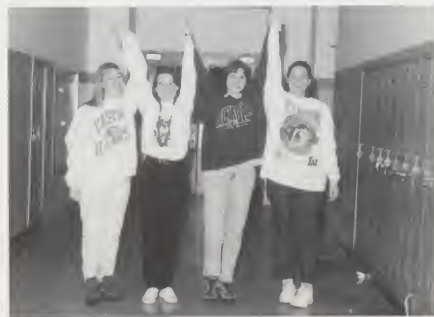

It takes a great deal of talent, dedication, and time to make all their routines go smoothly. It all begins in the spring when tryouts are held. After tryouts are over and the squad is chosen, they begin to prepare for the coming year. During the summer they practice and attend band camp. This year they went to Eastern Illinois University.

Once school has started the Flags practice during seventh hour and after school. Despite all the time required for practice and performing, the members are still able to maintain a good grade point average and fit in all their homework assignments.

The captains of the 1994-95 Flag Squad are Cory Ralston and Melissa Schwaller. It is their responsibility to make up and teach the routines the squad will perform. Congratulations on a good year.

KEEPING IN STEP

This year the Pom-pom Squad is led by senior captain Amy Reiter and junior co-captain Amanda Schermer. The squad consists of 22 members who are always working for perfection in their performances.

Dedicating their time to practicing for contests and seasonal games, the ladies start off in the summer with a few fund raisers. This helps pay for the band camp in the fall.

The Pom-poms perform for crowds at the football, soccer, and basketball games. "We are really looking forward to basketball season," says Tracey Petrillo, "This is our chance to perform alone, and prove to ourselves we are performers."

Practicing hard and long to perfect their routines, they try to provide an entertaining half time show for the Warrior fans. This allows the Poms to show off their talents in dance, choreography, and to feel the pride of being crowd pleasers.

The Poms are sponsored by Patricia Dugard. Miss Dugard also sponsors the Rifle and Flag Squads. Through her leadership and the talents of the girls, the GCHS squads are always one of the best performing auxiliaries in the surrounding area.

The Poms end their year with an annual clinic for the young girls to come and learn the fundamentals of being a pom-pom dancer. It is held in the gym and always a big success. It enables the grade school and junior high students to better learn what is expected of them when they try out for this prestigious squad.

SHOOT FOR THE STARS

The Rifle Squad is part of the auxiliaries which perform with the band at sporting events, special occasions and many of the yearly band competitions. It is not an easy task to become a Rifle and perform with this talented group of girls. To be able to be a part of the Rifle Squad you must have a great amount of skill and perseverance. Enduring the long hours of practice and sacrificing the amount of time they do to be the very best is what makes our Rifles so good.

In order to get to their level, a rifle must practice hard and practice often, after they have succeeded in their week long tryout. To help with this, the Rifle Squad usually attends a camp to sharpen their skills. At this year's camp, the Rifle Squad learned many new skills, techniques, and routines to use throughout the season in their many performances. This year's camp was held at Eastern Illinois University at the end of July.

After their camp, the girls are ready to put their abilities to the test by performing with the band and the other auxiliaries during halftime at home football and basketball games. The Rifles also perform at pep rallies, parades, and at competitions against schools from across the country. For example, some of the things the squad has participated in include competitions at O'Fallon, the University of Illinois, and Busch Stadium.

This year's talented Rifle Squad is made up of three freshmen, two sophomores, and three juniors. The senior members of the Rifles Squad are Gretchen Wiehardt, Sabrina Plumb, and Kellie Breese. The rifles are sponsored by Patricia Dugard.

ANYBODY OUT THERE?

On January 26 and 27, 1955, the speech department presented "Anybody Out There?" as the winter play. This comedy in two acts was written by John Patrick. Mary Bright directed this comical play. Beverly Scroggins was in charge of scenic design and technical direction.

This production showed how Oliver Panky, a scared bank teller, turned fearless when he learned he had only six months to live. He finally had more courage than ever before. No longer did he let everyone, including his girlfriend, walk all over him. He suddenly became a hero when he saved the bank from a robbery. Later, he found the doctor who given him this information had looked at another patient's file.

The cast of this play includes: Jeremy Gutierrez as the announcer; Derrick Webb as a voice; Aaron Smithers as Oliver Pankey; Peggy Price as Sophie Googan; Melinda Colbert as Gloria, the glad girl; Tracey Petrillo as Millie Milhaus; Basil Yurcin as Herbie Henderson; Beth Peery as Ms. Thornton, the boss; Bryan Bridges as Officer 1; Andrea Malone as Anita Wrenn; Suzanne Lerch as Doctor Dickey; Matthew James as Bill McSwain; James Stevens as Officer 2; Michael Halbrook as the FBI agent; Eric Yurcin as Milo; Robert Crane as the stranger; Thomas Cruse as the man with the violin.

A great deal of talent and dedicated hours of work went into the production of the winter play. Everyone involved pulled together to present a wonderful performance.

WE'VE GOT HOOP DREAMS

The 1994-95 Warrior basketball teams encompassed on a journey into a season that would bring fun to the students and followers of GCHS.

On paper, this year's team looked like a group with great potential for a winning season. Coached by John VanBuskirk, the varsity team played the big games tough and exceeded the thoughts of many in the Salem Invitational Tournament. This year was a year that some of the younger players used to gain needed experience. Leaving the team this year are senior guards Dana Anderson and Jeffrey Byrne; forwards L. Wayne Myers, Keith Simon, and Gregory Vaughn; and center Jason Peach.

Newly established Junior Varsity Coach Carl Luehmann joined the coaches this year, adding a new attitude of how to bring a team together. Showing his iron fist and a strong hold on his team, Coach Luehmann showed new promise of a great future for the boys team this year and years to come.

The Sophomore team, coached by third year coach Kurt Hylla, played like a team to be proud of. They managed to work hard during practice and games, without the help of varsity team members sophomores Ray Smith and Kyle Briggs, they gained respect for Granite City basketball from other teams.

Moving from Junior Varsity to the Freshman team, coach Darren DePew, in his second year, placed a strong attitude of fair play and winning into the freshmen. He worked with the younger players, also known as "the Rookies", teaching techniques, building endurance and completing the task of finding team unity.

The Warriors were an excitable team to watch; you never knew what you were going to see. The stands were always filled with cheering fans-some more than others-but all were appreciated. This was surely a year of rebuilding. The Warriors showed that after the season was over, even though their record did not show it, they were winners.

THE BIG JUMPERS

This year Granite City basketball was not at the level of winning that it has been before, but that does not make it any bit less memorable to the seniors that will be leaving it.

For four months everyday after school they went to practice and practiced with the intent of winning games and placing in the tournaments. They dedicated all their energy to the games to which they played and never looked back. When asked what they remembered most about the season some of the players replied with these answers.

Jason Peach said, "I remember the level of intensity we played with against O'Fallon and in the Salem Tournament against Edwardsville."

Jeffrey Byrne commented, "I remember the bus rides the most. The fun we had watching Dana Anderson draw, the laughs we had telling jokes on the way home and the conversations we had about anything and everything."

Gregory Vaughn replied, "The times we spent in the locker room before the games, listening to music and preparing for the games."

Keith Simon looked back and said, "When we were waiting to have our picture taken, coach turned around and did something that had the whole team ready to bust out laughing."

Dana Anderson answered, "The practices are what I remember the most. The fun of running certain drills, the chance to show my stuff and just being around basketball."

The boys all had individual memories, but they left the GCHS basketball fans with the special memory. The fans and parents who went to the games saw a group of dedicated boys playing together, joined in spirit and mind, playing a game they truly love — a game that will always be a part of their high school days.

CLEAR THE COURT

The 1994-95 GCHS Girl's Basketball Team was headed by coach David Weller and assisted by Ruth Layton. Newcomer Paul Macios coached the freshman team.

The varsity team was mostly made up of underclassmen. With only two seniors, the team had to depend on the younger players. The Lady Warriors had a height disadvantage, but their speed and shooting ability made up for it. Led by captains Joanna Groboski and Denise McMillan, the varsity girls opened the season with a win against Mascoutah. Some other impressive wins were against Madison, Collinsville, Riverview Gardens, Alton, Wood River and Civic Memorial. The players came upon some hard times when they entered the Mascoutah Tournament. Two tough losses against Jerseyville and Althoff eliminated the Lady Warriors. The determination of the players made the season a success.

With many of the underclassmen playing on the varsity team, the junior varsity team was left inexperienced. Even with this setback, the players proved themselves with big wins over Collinsville, Wood River, Alton and Riverview Gardens.

The freshman team was headed by new coach Paul Macios. They had a rough season, but hopefully with experience they will improve.

Congratulations to the coaches and players on a successful season. Good luck in future years.

RUNNING WITH THE WIND

Running is the best way to keep your body in shape. It improves your cardiovascular system and also builds and shapes muscles. The 1994-1995 Cross Country team knows that long practices are essential to winning the meets. They practice long and hard, running different courses to get ready for the up-coming meets.

Team captain, Darryl Thick says, "Cross Country isn't easy. You have to put much time into the practices to do good in the meets."

"Cross Country is a very hard sport with lengthy, difficult practices. But when you cross the finish line in front of your group, all the hard work pays off physically and emotionally," says M.V.P. Jason Anderson.

The practices are made up of 2 to 3.1 mile runs after school. Each team member needs to have a good pace to stay with the group. The team practices every day after school to get ready for future meets.

The coaches for Cross Country are David McClain and Thomas Haeffner. They do a great job supporting the team and helping them develop a good attitude towards their running. The team captain for the boys is Darryl Thick. The girls are lead by Nicole Done.

Stephanie Douglas says, "Cross Country is fun and challenging. The meets are fun and the coaches are great. It all pays off in the long run. It teaches respect for others and to have the courage to go out and make something of yourself."

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

The 1994-95 Warrior Football Team had a very long, hard season that started in August and ended in late October. The team began twice a day practices in anticipation of the season. The ambitious young men had long, hot practices filled with agility, blocking drills, and scrimmages. But in spite of all their teamwork and effort, the Warriors did not have a spectacular season. The team was faced with many disappointments and injuries. Having key players, such as Patrick Curry, Keith Simon, Brian Wortham, Nick Novacich, and Eric Hahn injured was part of the team's downfall.

Keith Simon said it all when he stated, "We're a better team than our record showed." As the season progressed the Warrior's team improved in each game. Mike Kalips and Jason Talley both agreed that, "As a very inexperienced team, we improved weekly and became a better team overall."

Playing talented teams like Francis Howell, Belleville West, and East St. Louis also caused a problem for the Warriors. As John Sellers said, "We only had a few seniors starting. The rest were underclassmen. It was definitely a rebuilding year."

One of the highlights of the season was the game against the once nationally-ranked East St. Louis Flyers. The Warriors played a hard and skillful game, and kept the crowd in suspense. By the fourth quarter the game was tied up with the score of 14-14. Playing that well against such a high caliber team was impressive to both the coaches and the fans.

As this year's season came to an end, the returning varsity players looked ahead to next season. Junior Chris Janek said, "I am looking forward to next year because it will be the year for the Warriors." Bobby Ellis was excited about next year and said, "This year was fun for me but we can look forward to being conference champs next year."

After all the team's hard work and practice seven players were given All Southwestern Conference honors. John Gardiner received an honorable mention for defensive line. Mike Kalips got second team running back. Second team defensive line and offensive center went to Chris Janek. Matt Kelahan got first team offensive tight end, and Ryan Relleke got first team offensive guard. Jason Hitchcock received first team defensive back, and Patrick Curry received first team defensive end. Congratulations on your honors.

Even though there are losing seasons, the coaches and players always come back to try again next year. The Warrior football team has high hopes for their 1995-96 season. Good luck to all the returning Warrior players.

JUST FORE FUN

Golf is a sport that requires much skill and concentration. It may not be one of the most physically exhausting sports, but it still takes a persistent individual to master the sport.

The Warrior golf team has shown they are skillful and dedicated to their sport. The record at the end of the season was 16-4. This year at the Cloverleaf Golf Course, the team set a new school record. They had a combined score of 135 which was one under par.

They also placed 3rd in the Mascoutah Tournament. In regional play all of the golfers played very well, but despite their efforts the only player to advance to sectional play was senior John Green. John made the 1st Team All Conference and made the 2nd Team All Area. Kenneth Felty made the 2nd Team All Conference and the 3rd Team All Area.

The team was coached by Mr. Boone Channey. This is Mr. Channey's first year as head coach. He assisted Coach Russell Chappell in previous years. An addition to the team was assistant coach Mr. Allen Lobdell.

The Warrior golfers finished their season with a very good record and had several players honored. All returning players are eager to come back and do it again next year.

SIMPLY THE BEST

Over the years the Soccer Warriors have developed a winning tradition. This year was no exception. The boys began the season with the annual midnight practice. On August 15 at 12:01 the players took the field under the watchful eyes of Coaches Gene Baker, Virgil Kirksey, and David Ames.

After a little over a week of practice it was game time. The season began with a victory at Peoria-Richwoods. The score was 4-2 with the game winning goals scored in overtime. That first game was just a taste of what the season would be like. The next team to fall to the Warriors were the Vianney Golden Griffins. The final score was 1-0. Other memorable games were the games against Collinsville, Springfield High School, and St. Charles. The defeat of a great victory for the Warriors. They ended the season with a record of 24-3.

At the conclusion of the regular season the Warriors were the Southwest Conference Champions. After breezing past their first opponent in the Regional Tournament, the Warriors defeated Triad for the Regional Championship. The Warriors then went on to become the Sectional Champions after defeating the Collinsville Kahoks in the title game. The team then advanced to the Super-Sectional, where they faced a tough Springfield team. Springfield also fell victim to the powerful Warriors. This win made Granite City the Super-Sectional Champions, and allowed them to go to the State Tournament in Palatine.

Once in Palatine, the Warriors played St. Charles, the top ranked team in the Chicago area. At the end of the game the teams were tied. Since a winner had not been determined in regulation, the game went to a 10 minute sudden death overtime period. After the first overtime period, the game was still tied. So another sudden death overtime period was played. After the second overtime there still was not a winner. The winner would have to be determined by penalty kicks. Mike Bristol came out very strong for the warriors stopping 3 out of 5 of St. Charles' shots. The Warriors were more successful in their shots. They beat the goalie from St. Charles 3 of 5 times. After a very long and intense game the Warriors came out on top.

In the semi-final game the Warriors took on the Chicago-Kelly Trojans. A tough team from GCHS was too much for the Trojans to handle, they too lost by a score of 1-0. Now the Warriors advanced to the championship game. Despite a terrible rainstorm the Warriors took the field opposite Palatine High School. With a goal scored by Shawn Petroski the boys took an early lead. They maintained that lead until the last seconds of the game when Palatine scored and launched the game into overtime. Palatine scored within the first few minutes of overtime, ending a glorious season for the Warriors. Even though they were the State Runner Ups, they played like champions the entire year.

The 1994 season was full of positives. Coach Baker recorded his 500th win after defeating Triad in the Regional title game. Shawn Petroski reached a milestone too. He broke a long standing record for goals scored in a single season. He scored 43 breaking the previous record of 39. Petroski also earned the distinction of All-State, All-Midwest, All-State Tournament, and All-Sectional.

Other members of the team were also recognized for their outstanding play. Mike Bristol, Corey Kessler, and Matt Little were also named All-Sectional players. Petroski was joined by fellow Warriors Paul Bucherich and Mike Bristol on the All-State Tournament Team. GCHS was well represented in the Southwest Conference team as well. Mike Bristol, Scott Nemeth, John Nizinski, and Travis Mills were named to the First Team. Honorable Mentions went out to Jonathan Reader and Justin McMillian, the Junior Player of the year.

Coach Baker also gave special honors to some of his players. He gave Shawn Petroski the Most Valuable Player Award. Corey Kessler was awarded the Defensive Player of the Year Award, and Travis Mills was awarded the Most Improved Player award. The "Dave Morgan Award" is an award given to those unsung players whose dedication and hard work is reflected on their gentlemanly conduct on the field. This year the award was given to both Matt Little and Mike Bristol, who had 16 shutouts this season.

There were many memorable plays this season. Matt Little's bicycle kick goal against Marquette will never be forgotten. Jonathan Reader also dazzled fans with the speed and accuracy of his flip throw-in. The fans were especially impressed when he scored a goal with it in the game against Alton.

The 1994 Warrior Boys Varsity Soccer Team was good defensively and offensively. They scored a total of 92 this season and allowed only 17 goals. Every player contributed in some way to the success of the team.

Looking back on the season Coach Baker said, "Congratulations to all on a great season. It takes talent, preparation, hard work, an altruistic attitude, and a cooperative effort to accomplish what you have." The theme chosen for the season was "To be a winner . . . all you need give, is all you have." Coach Baker felt this team fulfilled this to a tee. Every day every player gave his best. Congratulations to all the players on a terrific season, and good luck.

ANOTHER GOOD YEAR

Winning has become a habit for Warrior soccer teams. This year was no exception. All of the soccer teams were successful this year, from the Freshmen to Varsity level.

The Freshmen team ended the season with 10 wins and only a single loss. They accomplished this under Coach David Ames. Dane Bauer led the scoring for the freshmen, although everyone contributed to the team's success. Coach Ames felt the strong point of the team was their ability to play well defensively and offensively. Looking back over the season, Coach Ames said, "This is a very talented group of freshmen who have a great future ahead of them."

The Junior Varsity Warriors, coached by Virgil Kirksey, also had a successful season. They ended their season with 7 wins, 4 ties, and only 2 losses. Ten freshmen, nine sophomores, and seven juniors made up this year's Junior Varsity team. Despite losing two games and tying four games Coach Kirksey said the team never quit and they always played hard.

He also said the team was always in the game and could have won every game. "It was a good season. With these players it looks bright for the Varsity level next year."

THE WARRIORS ROCK THE HOUSE

This fall an epidemic spread through the halls of GCHS. It was an epidemic of Soccer Fever, and it raced through the veins of everyone. It was caused by the tremendous success of the Warrior Boys' Soccer Team. They accomplished something the previous three years had not been able to, they made it to the State Tournament in Palatine. Following a pep rally on Thursday, November 3, 1994, the soccer team left for Palatine. Many students, permission slip in hand, also went up the following day.

On Friday, November 4, the Warriors took on the St. Charles Saints in front of parents, administrators, and many fans. These teams were evenly matched. At the conclusion of the first half both of the team were scoreless. During the second half the Saints came out strong and scored two goals in a row. The Warriors were not ready to go home just yet. Shawn Petroski started the Warrior attack by scoring the first goal for GCHS within minutes of Petroski's goal. Paul Bucherich added another to tie the game at two a piece. At the end of the game the teams were still tied.

In attempt to determine a winner, the game went to a sudden death overtime period. Still, at the end of the first overtime there was not a winner. Therefore a second overtime period was played. It too did not produce a winner. The winner had to be decided in penalty kicks. Mike Bristol came out strong for GCHS, stopping three of five shots. The Warrior shooters were more successful than the Saints Shooters. They scored three of five shots. The Warriors had won the game. Fans went crazy, flooding the walkways, and forcing a fence to the ground.

The next team the Warriors faced was the Chicago-Kelly Trojans. The Warriors were too hot for the Trojans to handle. They like so many others were defeated by the Warriors 1-0. Now the team followed in the footsteps of so many other Warrior soccer teams before them. They advanced to the championship game.

The game was played Saturday, November 5, in the middle of a terrible rain storm. Before the game actually began, the current team ran over and slapped the hands of the GCHS Soccer Alumni. A long honored tradition that gives the players a rush of adrenaline. Once the game did start, the Warriors took an early lead over Palatine with a goal scored by Petroski. The warriors maintained the lead until late in the game, with little time remaining. Palatine scored launching the game into overtime. Palatine ended the game shortly after overtime began. Thus the Warriors finished the season as the Illinois State Runner Up.

The State Tournament was a spectacular ending to a spectacular season. The team played hard, excellent soccer all weekend. Everyone in Granite City was extremely proud of the way the team played and represented Granite City. To be a winner . . . all you need to give is all you have," says Coach Baker. The team was definitely a winner.

NOTHING BUT ACE

This year the Girls Tennis Team went out with positive attitudes after they finished a disappointing 4-10-0 season last year. Linda Ames, the new coach for this year, knew the team needed hard work and practice. But, because the team was a young team, she knew all the hard work would eventually lead to a victorious season.

For the first two weeks of practice the team had two practices a day, each practice two hours long. The first practice was completely for drilling to get used to hitting the ball. The second was for matches between the girls to see where everyone would be playing in conference matches.

After the first two weeks, signs of improvement appeared. Serves were going in, groundstrokes were smoother, and volleys were not being swung at quite so much. The team seemed to be looking forward to the season.

With the Collinsville and Edwardsville school districts on strike, the girls lost many good opportunities to get playing experience with these two teams. They did, however, get plenty of playing time during the season.

The team finished the season with a very impressive record of 7-7-0. Congratulations girls.

PLAYING FOR PERFECTION

The season officially started August 15, but many of the girls began to prepare for the season during the summer months. They wanted to be prepared for all the demands that would be asked of them by their head coach Cindy Gagich and her two assistants Ruth Layton and Deborah Germann.

There were also nine responsible students who supported the team by managing and being statisticians. They were Jeffery Pusczek, Christopher Rongey, Robyn Miller, Todd Williams, Basil Yurcisin, Anna Pieper, Teresa Yurko, Rita Murphy, and Amanda Derassett.

The varsity team was made up of five seniors, eight juniors, and two sophomores. This year's co-captains were senior Melanie Tapp and junior Denise McMillan. The first game of the season was September 1 against Civic Memorial in which the team brought home a big win.

The varsity team participated in four volleyball tournaments. The first tournament was the First Annual Granite City Fall Classic. Six area teams were involved in this tournament. The lady spikers were not very successful, but it was a great learning experience. The girls learned that teamwork was a major factor in the game of volleyball.

The second tournament was the Collinsville Invitational where the girls placed 3rd beating Mascoutah. The other tournaments included the McCluer North Invitational and the Freeburg Invitational. The team played very well and improved their record at Freeburg from last year.

The regional matches were scheduled for October 25 and 27. The team defeated Wood River in the first round, but lost a hard fought battle against the Jersville Panthers. The players were upset about the loss, but knew they played their best.

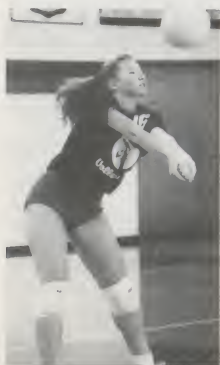

Three of the varsity players ended the season by being named to the All-Conference Team. Jennifer Willis received All-Conference 1st team, Denise McMillan All-Conference 2nd team, and Melanie Tapp All-Conference Honorable Mention.

The GCHS Junior Varsity Team had a very positive year, ending the season with 5 wins and 9 losses. The team was well coached by new assistant coach Ruth Layton. The team was made up of six juniors, seven sophomores, and one freshman.

The co-captains of the team were three juniors Jill Wozniak, Tara Wiebusch, and Elizabeth Goclan. This team had a great deal of talent, and put on a powerful performance against some of the best teams in the area.

The freshmen team also had a very good season, which included 14 talented young ladies. They ended with a 7-11-1 record. Their coach, Deborah Germann, was also new to the GCHS program this year. She taught the girls the fundamentals they will need in future years. They participated in four tournaments winning the consolation bracket at the Hazelwood East Invitational.

Good-bye to the five seniors and good luck. Also good luck to the remaining players.

WE MET THE CHALLENGE

If Granite City had a list of the things to be proud of the wrestling team would top the list. The 1995 Warrior matmen were the most formidable team in the Southwest Conference, or for that matter the St. Louis metro area. They topped the large school wrestling polls in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The Warriors were ranked second in the state and twentieth in the country by the USA Today poll.

The first big tournament for the Warriors was the 34th Annual Granite City Holiday Tournament. The team won this tournament annihilating the other teams. The next big meet for the Warriors was the Geneseo Invitational. This tournament held in Geneseo, Illinois, draws the very best teams from both in and out of state. To win the Warriors would have to come out focused and intense. The team stepped up and met the challenge. They came away from the tournament with a second place finish. The only team that finished ahead of the Warriors was Mount Carmel, who at that time was ranked first in the state.

As the season progressed the team continued to dominate. Pinning opponents left and right. Soon it was time for the Individual Regional Tournament. The regionals were held at Cahokia High School. Once again the Warriors came out strong and took the Regional title. Twelve of thirteen wrestlers advanced to the individual sectional. The Individual Sectional Tournament was next on the Warriors agenda. Going in the matmen had an added advantage, they were wrestling at home.

This meet determined which wrestlers would advance to the state meet held at Assembly Hall on the campus of the University of Illinois. For a wrestler to advance to state he must finish first, second, or third place in their weight class.

The Sectional results were spectacular for the Warriors. Granite City advanced ten of thirteen wrestlers. These results prompted one opposing coach to say "If points were given as they used to be, a record would have been broken." Coach Mike Garland commented that he would like to have all of the Warrior wrestlers to advance, but he was proud of every one of them regardless.

The wrestlers were led by many wrestlers who advanced to state in past years. Four of these were seniors who advanced to state last year. They were Tim Fulkerson at 112 pounds, TJ Slay at 130, Brian Schooley at 135, and Tony Buchek at 171. Other members of the team that qualified for state in the past are Jeff Estrada, Joe Scott, and Chris Janek.

At the state tournament this year, four wrestlers placed in the top ten. TJ Slay won the state championship in his weight. Tony Buchek finished second, Tim Fulkerson finished fourth, and Chris Janek placed sixth.

The last time Granite City had a state champion was in 1978 when Kris Whelan won the title when attending GCHS/North. It's been 26 years since Granite City Senior High School saw state championship victory. Congratulations to the wrestlers and their coaches.

The varsity wrestling team was not the only wrestling team to have a successful season. Both the Junior Varsity and Freshmen wrestlers had winning seasons. The Junior Varsity team was undefeated for the second year in a row. Their record consisted of ten victories and zero losses. Coach Tom Blaha had this to say of the Junior Varsity team, "This is the second year in a row the Junior Varsity has gone undefeated. And I am very proud of each and everyone on the team."

The Freshmen grapplers also had an extremely successful season. They finished out their season with a record of seventy-six wins and only six losses. Coach Greg Garland was very proud of his team and said, "I am very proud of this team. They did an outstanding job. I am really looking forward to coaching them next year."

The Warrior Wrestling teams should be congratulated for such outstanding seasons. Good luck to the graduating seniors and to the underclassmen on continued success.

THE BOYS OF SPRING

The 1994 Warrior Baseball team had tremendous expectations to live up to from the past years. The Warriors met and exceeded these expectations by proving they could perform better than originally foreseen.

With the smell of the grass, leather of their gloves, and the grit of the dirt and dust below, the Warriors knew they would have large shoes to fill. They also knew that filling them would not be an easy task, but wasn't something that would scare them. The Warriors would hit the season head-on with no fear.

The team was led by Seniors: in the infield was Micah Roe and Sean Lakatos, in the outfield was Joseph Zellerman, and they rode on the wings of top hurlers Corey Dickerson, Jeffrey Ridenour, and southpaw Mark Winfield. The underclassmen on the team also added talent, encouragement, and sometimes helped with the equipment.

The Warriors were coached by first time head-coach Gustave Lignoul. Coach Lignoul also had a tough act to match, but as the season progressed the fans and the players could see that he had settled in as "big chief". The regular season ended with a win over Collinsville at Collinsville, placing Granite as the number one seed in the Regional Tournament. The Warriors took the tournament with ease and advanced on to the Sectional Tournament. The sectionals took a different turn and left the Warriors one game away from the State Tournament. The loss was a crushing blow to the players and fans, but the team was left with a lot of pride enough to hold their heads high.

The 1994 Warrior Varsity Baseball team played their hardest at all times, and always did what was asked of them. Because of this they came out of the season like true champions. Coach Lignoul and his players made themselves and the school proud.

A DAY AT BUSCH

On April 7, 1994, the Granite City Baseball Warriors returned to Busch Stadium to play the Mt. Vernon Rams in an exhibition baseball game.

The team consisted of varsity players along with those younger players who sold enough tickets. The freshmen, sophomore, junior, and senior classes were all represented.

The game got underway after the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the San Diego Padres by a score of 5-0.

A warm, sunny day and a big crowd helped make this game as exciting as anyone could hope for.

The Mt. Vernon Rams jumped out to an early lead. The Warriors battled back to take a temporary lead, but the Rams would counter with three runs to take a 4-3 lead.

The Warriors used steady defense and consistent hitting to gain a 5-4 edge going into the seventh inning. They would only need three outs to preserve their victory. Unfortunately, they gave up the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Even though the Warriors eventually lost the game, they were proud of their play. The Warriors showed a lot of character in a 6-5 loss.

This game was more than an exhibition; it gave the younger players varsity experience against a good team. Everyone got to play, and everyone played well. The Warriors played a hard-fought game, but just came up a little short.

Granite City fans were pleased with the Warriors play. Everyone had a good time at "the old ball game."

STATE BOUND ONCE AGAIN

The 1994 Varsity Girls Soccer team has had yet another impressive and successful season to add to their long list of accomplishments. The team is coached by Mr. Gene Baker and is assisted by Mr. Virgil Kirksey. The girls had a tough season opener against number one ranked, Incarnate Word, but the Lady Warriors were successful in defeating this team. This victory gave them the number one ranking in the area. The Warriors, because of placing second in the St. Dominic Tournament, lost their number one rank and dropped to second in the Southwestern Illinois Conference, which stretches from Springfield to St. Louis. The team's defense was led by senior co-captain Kami Kessel, juniors Kara Gauen, Tonya Genovese, Christina Costillo, Penny Kreher, and sophomore Denise McMillan. The girls made keeper, Mikla Economy's job much easier. In the mid-field was the other captain, Denise Dutko, along with Jennifer Splaingard, Brooke Bjorkman, Valerie Hasty, Lynsy Evans, Kelly Thomas, and Debra Dutko.

The offense was lead by Staci Dowdy and Holly Farnsworth, until Holly suffered an ankle injury during the middle of the season. She is considered one of the best forwards in the state of Illinois and the ladies missed her presence on the field. Another player who has had an impressive season, was senior Lynsy Evans, who has been surfacing as a complete, all around player and has proved that she can come through in a big game.

The Warriors were hungry for a trip and hopefully a win in the state tournament. The girls had a disappointing trip to the tournament last year when they lost in the first round. The girls' biggest goal set for this year was to return to state. With the talent and depth of the 1994 team, this was a great possibility. The girls finished the season by placing 4th at the IHSA state tournament. This is the second straight year that the team has traveled to the State Tournament. The seniors on the team will be greatly missed.

UNDEFEATED

The 1994 Junior Varsity Girls Soccer team had their feet set out in the right direction from the beginning of the season. With a tough schedule of 15 games, the girls played their best and went undefeated.

The team was coached by Mr. Virgil Kirksey, who made it possible for the ladies to have such a successful season. The girls had set high standards from the beginning of the season. The girls were determined, so their practices were full of dedication, hard work, and confidence.

Each player had a special job and each player fulfilled this job to the best of their ability. They practiced on their speed, agility, and strength. This will help them out in the long run with their season for next year.

They all had a good attitude, complete concentration, and a strong desire to win. The attitude of the team made it possible for them to finish undefeated.

SLIDING INTO HOME

Softball is a team sport that requires a lot of dedication and desire from the players and coaches. The 1994 softball coaches were John Hutchings and assistant coaches Mike Edwards and Sunny Puhse. The team consisted of nine returning lettermen: seniors Jessica Thomas, Kristi Melton, Nicole Coulter, Shelia Heil, juniors Julie Bohnenstiehl, Teresa Yurko, and sophomores Jennifer Willis, Julie Tanksley, and Jill Ahlvers.

The goal of these players was to lead the team through a winning season. The team had to rely on the other pitchers when their starter, sophomore Julie Tanksley, suffered a back injury. The defense had to be strong to make the outs.

The softball team started the season with an away game against the Roxana Shells. Even though the team suffered a hard loss, their minds were set for a winning season. The softball team participated in the Southwestern Regional Conference. The team's first game was against Collinsville.

Even with all of the rainouts the team suffered, these girls did not let it affect the way they played or their concentration. They had to stay focused. The varsity team participated in the Granite City Softball tournament. These girls played their hardest and received a second place finish in this tournament. Despite all the hard work the varsity team set forth, they could not achieve their goal of a winning season. The varsity softball season ended with a record of 5 wins and 18 losses.

The junior varsity team was made up of 5 sophomores and 10 freshmen. This team was a combination of underclassmen. With the unity of this team, the future will bring great glory to GCHS. The junior varsity team ended the season with 6 wins and 7 losses.

Good luck on an outstanding season next year.

CAUSING A RACQUET

Tennis is a sport of singles and doubles, but the support and effort is needed from each individual to be a team. Each player puts in a tremendous amount of time and energy to become a part of a serious and competitive team.

Tennis is a sport of skill and technique, and takes time, dedication, and practice to decide which shot should be executed at the right time. There are many different strokes used such as the serve, lob, forehand, backhand, half volley, and volley that a player can use to defeat their opponent.

The 1994 Tennis Team was led by sophomore Joseph Markel, and juniors Christopher Mitchell and Joel Belmer. Because of Markel's hard work and dedication, he finished the season as the number one player with a record of fourteen wins and seven losses. Christopher Mitchell played in the number two single's position throughout most of the season, in addition to playing number one doubles with partner Joel Belmer. Joseph Markel went to the Illinois State Tournament in singles and Christopher Mitchell and Joel Belmer went in doubles.

Seniors Jason Smith, Aaron Jackstadt, and Javier Aponte also played very well this year. Their contribution to the team helped the boys finish with a winning season. Mark Papp, Brian Wortham, Miguel Aponte, and newcomer Louis Prazma added a great deal of support and victory to their team and their winning record.

The boys were coached by Allen Lobdell. The skill and determination were shared by both varsity and junior varsity teams. Win or lose, all the boys have the ability it takes to be good tennis players. Their strenuous efforts paid off with satisfying results. The varsity team ended their season with 9 wins and 5 losses. Congratulations on a terrific season.

SEE HOW THEY RUN

The 1993-1994 GCHS Track Team was coached by Dave McClain. The shot and discus coach was Larry Curry. The assistant sprint coach was Greg Garland. James Harsh and Tom Haefner were the long distance coaches.

The Boys and Girls Track Teams both compete in a large variety of events. Some of the events are the 4x100, 4x200, 4x400, and the 4x800 relays, the 1 and 2 mile run, and the 400 and 800 yard run. They also compete in the 100 and 200 yard dash. The field events consist of the high jump, long jump, shot put, discus, and triple jump. The hurdles' events for the boys and girls are different. The boys run the 110 yard high hurdles and the 300 yard intermediate hurdles, while the girls run a 100 yard intermediate hurdles and a 300 yard low hurdles.

The GCHS Track Team was involved in some important meets. For the boys, some of the larger ones are the Belleville West Invitational with 25 schools and the Centralia Relays with 16 schools. They competed in an indoor meet at Eastern Illinois University. They were also in the Southwestern Conference Meet. Some of the major girls' meets were the Tiger Relays, the Madison County Meet, and the Southwestern Conference Meet.

The GCHS Track Team spent long hours training for the meets. Skill, dedication, and practice helped the athletes. Mental preparation was also needed. Two members of the track team earned their way to state. Junior Lesley Penberthy represented GCHS in the 200 meter dash, while freshman Stephanie Brandt earned 7th place in the discus. Congratulations to the GCHS Track Team and coaches. Good-bye to the seniors. Good luck in future years.

ON THE WAY TO BROADWAY

The Granite City High School Speech Department presented "Auntie Mame" for this year's spring play. Beverly Scroggins directed the production which was performed on April 21 and 22.

It takes place in Auntie Mame's Beekman Place apartment in New York during a period of years from 1928-1946. Auntie Mame ends up taking care of her nephew, Patrick Dennis, after his parents die. The lawyer, Mr. Babcock, feels that Mame is an unfit guardian, and Patrick is sent to boarding school.

Auntie Mame loses her fortune and ends up working a variety of jobs. While working, she finally meets her future husband, Beauregard. She goes through many ups and downs including the death of the man she married, but still keeps her pleasant personality.

This delightful comedy was put together by the work of a production staff. Besides the actors and actresses, lighting, sound, props, costumes, and set construction were all needed to make this play a success. The members of the cast were Beth Peery, Aaron Smithers, Alicia Skirball, Nathan Cholevik, Derrick Webb, Nicole Beckley, James Rooney, John Buxton, Regina Hankins, Jeremy Gutierrez, Jeremy Lewis, Michael Halbrook, Hillary Ryan, Chris Drakeford, Andrew Kamadulski, Peggy Price, Jennifer Passig, James Stevens, Jacob Erickson, Traci Mell, Ethan Crane, Jaime Carney, Ryan Moenster, Aaron Belmer, Lisa Parks, Suzanne Lerch, Stacey Brimm, Roy Badgett, Andrea Malone, Jamie Baker, Erin Cain, Kate Jacobs, and Jessica Stegelmeyer. Congratulations to all of the cast members, production staff, and directors for making this year's spring play a success.

WONDERFUL TONIGHT

The 1994 prom was as wonderful as its theme, "Wonderful Tonight". This year's prom took place at Pipefitters Hall on April 30th. Preparations for the prom began in the early days of February. Dresses were to be made and bought, tuxedos were ordered, limos were rented, and after prom plans were created.

Friends had to decide who they were going to sit with, because only ten people were allowed at the table. Flowers were ordered to match each other's outfits. All the men looked different due to a wide variety of vests. Some were checked, striped, iridescent, and paisley. Others had guitars, baseballs, and even Mickey Mouse.

April 30th was a gloomy day, but it did not dampen the spirits of the excited prom goers. For those few who braved the rain at the park, they received the fabulous shoe shine service of Mr. Andrew Yurko at the gazebo. Others took pictures at home or at a friend's house before the festivities began. The photo taking had not come to an end however, photographs were also taken at the prom in front of the beautiful navy and gold celestial background.

After the food was served, friends conversed while listening to soft music. Then, people jammed to the songs of past and present by the Village People and Snoop Doggy Dogg. People danced around during the wild rendition of 'Y.M.C.A.'. During Nirvana's 'Smells Like Teen Spirit', brave men moshed. The music came to an end with the traditional song 'Shout'.

Party favors were picked up off the table to remember the evening by, while last minute pictures were taken to use up the role of film. Groups were picked up in their limos or party buses, while others went out to their cars to leave. Then, the after prom parties officially began. Some went to dinner, others went to Cyranos or Ted Drewes for dessert, and others went back to friends' houses.

Prom will always be cherished by those who attended the dance, because it was one of the last times the seniors were together. Thoughts and memories will remain in their minds until they are grandparents telling their grandchildren stories of the young men and women they once were. The prom was truly a wonderful night.

LOOKING TOWARD THE FUTURE

Graduation is one of the last times that a class will gather together as a group. It is the final step of each student's life before entering the next stage. Soon, each of them will be heading in different directions, pursuing different careers. For the first time, many seniors see themselves as adults rather than children.

Graduation was held on May 27, 1994, at the Warrior Memorial Football Stadium. The seniors marched to their seats in their caps and gowns filled with anticipation and excitement, while proud friends and family members watched. All rose in honor of the American Flag as the "Star Spangled Banner" was sung by senior Jeremy Hartman.

David Kasproich, the 1994 valedictorian, gave an inspirational speech to the graduating class and audience. The salutatorian, Amy Gebhardt, also gave a very well-written oration. Principals and administrators talked with words of encouragement and wisdom.

There was applause after every graduating member of the class of 1994 received a diploma. With this came the feeling of relief and accomplishment.

The crowd was full of tears, hugs, and pictures for memorabilia. It was a night of mixed emotions for seniors. They were happy to finally receive their diplomas, but also felt the sadness of leaving high school behind. They realized there would be many more responsibilities in the real world ahead of them. Congratulations and good luck to all of the seniors on their great accomplishments.

YEARBOOK

Sabina Kumar, 1995 editor

"This year's yearbook staff has been a joy to work with. They are truly young ladies and gentlemen. Surely they will go on and make Granite City proud" ... Norman Mangoff — Hollywood-Andrews Studio.

Dimana, Christine, & D.P. Spudich, advisor.

ONE MORE YEAR

This year's book is the work of a few dedicated students. They worked long hours to complete a project that began in August 1994.

Each day brought new challenges that made everyone strive for the same goal. Each day was filled with endless writing, typing, and editing. But the realization that this book could possibly be one of the best made the work worthwhile.

A theme was conceived which became the basis of the entire project. What began as a few vague thoughts and ideas eventually nurtured into 368 pages. Each of these pages required a layout, distinctive of the theme's format. Composed words, developed photograph, and styled layouts merged together to create a personality for each individual page.

For all the thoughts to run together into a completed book was most rewarding to the staff members. Words, photographs, and layouts rolling together, creating a book everyone can be proud of was worth all the time, effort, and disagreements that were endured throughout the year.

In the end, all the good times were remembered, all the bad times were almost forgotten, and all were proud to say they were once part of the 1995 Warrior yearbook staff.

But most of all, thank you Leann and Tara for listening to everything I said and for having long and crazy senses of humor.

I, Christopher Rongey, would like to thank Leann for being the quietest and least obnoxious person in the yearbook. To Liz and Amy for being the loudest, and most likely to be heard during any kind of tropical storm. To Marcie for consistently saying something unimportant without any kind of help but it doesn't mean that I don't still love you; I'd also like to thank you for being the only girl in here that is as goofy as I am. To Tara for being the most level headed of the rotten bunch and for keeping me updated on Duke and the latest Blues victory. To Mel Tapp for being like the General Patton of the staff; and for your subtle kindness. To Mike, the only red-head, and least disturbed male in the room. To Jeff, King of the Mail, for complaining about several things and for being the only person I know who really cares how he looks. To Mel K, for keeping me in line and never failing to let me know when I'm wrong — I hated both of them you did it. To Sabina for being the best darned editor in the world and for using that whining voice whenever something isn't done on time; and for getting me on the yearbook in the beginning. To Wayne for being my counterpart and being the second most annoying yearbook staffer. To Willy for putting up with me. Finally to Mrs. Spudich for letting five male gorillas on the yearbook staff. You love us more than you think.
